Alfred E. Smith to "Take A Walk" Unless Roosevelt Policies Are Repudiated

Highlights of Smith's Liberty League Address

Washington, Jan. 25.—(P)—Highlights of Alfred E. Smith's speech tonight at the American Liberty League dinner:

"I am not a candidate for any nomination by any party at any time, and what is more I do not intend to even lift my right hand to secure any nomination from any party at any time."

I have no axe to grind. x x x I have no feeling against any man, woman or child in the United States.

I am here tonight x x x because I have a great love for the United States of America.

No man that I know of or that I probably ever read of has any more reason to love it than I have. It kept the gateway open for me. It is a matter of common knowledge x x x that deprived by poverty x x x that gateway showed me how it was possible to go from a newsboy on the sidewalks of New York to the governorship of the greatest state in the Union.

I have five children and I have ten grandchildren and you take it from me, I want that gate left open not alone for mine x x x but for every boy and girl in the country x x x.

I was born in the Democratic party and I expect to die in it.

It is not easy for me to stand up here tonight and talk against the Democratic administration.

But I can call upon innumerable witnesses to testify to the fact that during my whole public life I put patriotism above partisanship. And when I see danger I say danger x x x.

Now, what are these dangers I see? The first is the arraignment of class against class.

It has been freely predicted that if we were ever to have civil strife again in this country, it would come from the appeal to passion and prejudice that comes from the demagogue that would divide a class of our people against the other.

The next danger that is apparent to me is the vast building up of new bureaus of government, draining resources of our people in a common pool and redistributing them not by any process of law, but by the whim of a bureaucratic autocracy.

Now, what would I have my party do? I would have them re-establish and re-declare the principles that they put forth in the 1932 platform.

Even our Republican friends x x x have all agreed that it is the most compact, the most direct, and the most intelligent political platform that was ever put forth x x x.

And listen, no candidate in the history of the country ever presented himself more unequivocally to his party platform than did the president x x x.

Millions and millions of Democrats just like myself x x x still believe in that platform. And what we want to know is why it wasn't carried out.

How can you balance a budget if you insist upon spending more money than you take in?

We have borrowed so that we have reached a new high peak of federal indebtedness for all time.

Forget the rich; they can't pay this debt. x x x There is no use talking about the poor x x x this debt is going to be paid by that great big middle class that we refer to as the backbone and the rank and file x x x it will come to them in the cost of living x x x.

According to the papers the other day some brilliant individual has conceived the idea of how to get around the constitution. We are going to have 48 AAA's, one for every state.

The NRA just put a gas bag on the anti-trust laws and put them fast asleep and nobody said anything about it.

x x x A short time ago x x x somebody said that business was going to get a breathing spell. What is the meaning of that? x x x I'll tell you where it comes from. It comes from the prize ring. When the aggressor is punching the head of the other fellow he suddenly takes compassion on him and he gives him a breathing spell before he delivers the knockout wallop.

DIRECTED VERDICT

Whitesburg, Ky., Jan. 25.—(P)—Robert Mahan, 24, was freed on a directed verdict today of the charge of murdering his nine months old son, Thomas. Circuit Judge R. Monroe Fields sustained a defense motion to free the man after the commonwealth had concluded its evidence designed to show the baby died from severe disciplinary measures.

Highlights of Smith's Liberty League Address

Washington, Jan. 25.—(P)—In a scathing denunciation of the administration as faithless to the platform upon which it was elected, Alfred E. Smith gave notice tonight he would "take a walk" during the presidential campaign unless Roosevelt policies are repudiated at Philadelphia.

There were only two recourses open to "disciples of Jefferson and Jackson and Cleveland," he told a cheering American Liberty League audience. "We can either take on the mantle of hypocrisy or we can take a walk—and we probably will do the latter," he said.

The words fell upon the eager ears of foremost members of both major parties, some of whom had been asking whether the "happy warrior" of 1928 might not join an independent party movement at the expense of the New Deal or possibly support a Republican nominee. They found he left unanswered whether or how he might seek between now and June to bring about the "reestablishment" of party principles he advocated.

Class warfare and bureaucratic domination of the citizenry, he warned, should the present "socialistic" federal course be continued. "There can be only one capital—Washington or Moscow," he continued with a vigor that flushed his already ruddy cheeks. "The people can breathe the clear fresh air of America or the foul breath of Soviet Russia."

But an administration, he said, we win the constitution has already won—but the news has not reached certain ears.

His next words were drowned out by cheering and laughter from the crowd which jammed the ballroom of the Mayflower hotel. It was in the same room, and before a scene similarly resplendent, that President Roosevelt recently pledged to the Jackson Day dinner that "we will not retreat."

Time and again Smith reverted to the Chicago platform of 1932 which he helped draft. Except for stock exchange control and repeal of the 18th amendment, he said it has been "thrown in the wastebasket."

He went on: "Even our Republican friends, and I know of many of them, they talk to me freely—we have our little confidences—they have all agreed that it is the most compact, the most direct, and the most intelligent political platform that was ever put forth."

Among those who heard the appeal on his behalf were John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee preceding Smith; and two former Democratic governors, Ely of Massachusetts and Ritchie of Maryland.

Ely said later he could not see "how any Democrat could disagree with him." But an administration leader in the senate, Byrnes of South Carolina, expressed regret as home that Smith "can't forget his defeat at the Chicago convention."

At Chicago, Smith sought to prevent the Roosevelt nomination. There has been speculation ever since he called the Roosevelt monetary policy one of "boloney dollars" whether he would again seek the presidential nomination.

"I am not a candidate for any nomination by any party at any time," he said tonight, "and what is more I do not intend to lift my right hand to secure any nomination."

One Democratic senator, who declined to be quoted, said Smith had not closed the doors to a nomination. He said it was significant that Smith, in declaring he was not a candidate, had added that he would not lift a hand, and that indicated he would accept a nomination.

To the Democrats in congress Smith appealed that election day be forgotten, "do the right, not the expedient thing."

Between spasms of applause, he recommended that the legislators "stop compromising."

Fishermen Found On An Ice Field

Moscow, Jan. 25.—(P)—An ice field on which 1,823 fishermen have been marooned for ten days was located today 150 miles out in the Caspian sea.

An airplane flew over the ice island and dropped medical supplies. The pilot reported the field had stopped drifting. The men were marooned when the ice broke away from shore Jan. 16.

The castaways confirmed his statement by a message from their small portable wireless set and reported the fishing was so good at the place they were taking advantage of it to increase their hauls.

Steamers left immediately to transport the men who have 1,400 horses with them to shore.

Airplane are searching in vain for other floe castaways, estimated to number 41.

FARM INCOME

Washington, Jan. 25.—(P)—Cash income of farmers from the sale of farm products in 1935 was estimated by the Department of Agriculture today at $3,827,000,000, compared with $3,897,000,000 in 1934.

Income last December was figured at $398,000,000, compared to $680,000,000 the previous month and $473,000,000 in December, 1934.

AAA benefit payments in December were $47,000,000, compared to $56,000,000 in November and $53,000,000 in December, 1934.

ITALIANS AND ETHIOPIANS IN FIERCE BATTLE

Selassie's Army In Fight Numbers Over 40,000 Men

By Edward J. Neil Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press.

Asmara, Eritrea, Jan. 25.—(P)—An Ethiopian force estimated to number 40,000 was repelled by Italian troops Thursday in what eye witnesses said was the fiercest fighting on the northern front since the war began.

The Ethiopians repeatedly charged a blackshirt division, but were thrown back each time until the Italians, strengthened by reinforcements, forced the Ethiopians to retire from the battle field.

Military observers expressed the opinion that the warriors of Ras Kassa and Ras Seyoum, in their wild assault on the Fascist soldiers, were attempting to offset the reported victories by Gen. Rodolfo Graziani on the southern front.

The Ethiopians, constantly strengthened by fresh troops from the rear, charged recklessly into a barrage of Fascist machine-gun fire, paying little heed to casualties despite the terrific losses they suffered.

The Italians, likewise, fought valiantly in defending their position.

The encounter occurred about 15 miles west of Makale, the important northern Ethiopian town reached by the Italians at the conclusion of their second major offensive in the early days of the war.

Johnston City To Continue Battle To Save Its Mine

Suggestions For Harnessing Underground Waters Are Received

By Lester M. Hill Associated Press Staff Writer

Johnston City, Ill., Jan. 25.—(P)—The fight of this mining town of 6,000 to survive through the saving of two coal mines—assailed by subterranean flooding—has captured the attention of the nation.

From the four points of the compass have come suggestions for harnessing the underground waters which already have disabled one mine and threaten the existence of the other—and the livelihood of a majority of workers here.

Large quantities of soybeans, corn and sawdust were dumped into the flooded shaft several days ago at a frantic vitality, accepts them all in the spirit in which they were ordered. Though the battle has not been won yet, Johnston City is not ready to give up.

"This mine is not lost and we are not going to think about such things," said Ray Ligon, former mayor and town foreman at the pit.

"We still have hope and we are expecting federal aid to carry on the work," said Mayor Grant Anderson. But if worst comes to worst, and the mine is lost as work maker for the community, there is no disposition to let the town succumb.

"We will set our faces to the sun and go after some small factories," said J. Lester Buford, Rotary club president. "We have some of the finest people and best workers in the world, so why quit?"

Three Men Killed In Airplane Crash

Itasca, Texas, Jan. 25.—(P)—Three men were killed today in a sputtering airplane that fell in a dense fog on a farm six miles southeast of here.

The dead: Ralph C. Kirk, Grand Prairie, Texas, pilot.

Albert H. Boren, Dallas, architect. George W. Carter, Dallas, salesman.

Marvin Upchurch, farmer near here, said he heard the plane pass over his house and start sputtering a few hundred yards away. Then the motors ceased functioning.

"I didn't think anything about it," he said, "but a few minutes later Barney Evans, a farmer, came running up and said a plane had crashed in my pasture."

NEWSPAPERMAN DIES

Williamsport, Pa., Jan. 25.—(P)—Col. Thomas W. Lloyd, active newspaperman at 30 and friend of Abraham Lincoln, died at his home today.

Lloyd was known throughout Pennsylvania as an historian. Thousands heard his lectures stories of his acquaintance with the Civil War president while his father, Clinton Lloyd, was speaker of the house of representatives.

NORTH STATES BRACE AGAINST NEW COLD WAVE

Subzero Assault Is Expected This Afternoon

Chicago, Jan. 25.—(P)—Along the Canadian border, the elements mobilized tonight for a new subzero assault on the northern states.

A brief respite from the most frigid blasts of the century vouchsafed midwestern and Atlantic states during the day, was due to be snipped off during the night with temperatures from 10 to 20 degrees below from Minnesota to Indiana and subzero weather as far east as Ohio.

Additional deaths continued to augment the cold wave's list of victims throughout the day bringing the total for the country to at least 164 for the seventy-two hour period of extreme cold.

Snow was falling in Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado and more was forecast for New York state where highway traffic struggled for the fourth successive day against fast forming drifts in the upstate region. It was only a few degrees above zero there.

Ice jams in the Niagara river shriveled the majestic American Falls to a mere trickle and the biggest "ice bridge" in years covered the stream below the cataract.

Ninety four degrees separated today's coldest and warmest weather map spots. Charles City, Ia., had minus 26 for the country's official minimum while Miami, Fla., boasted of a salubrious 68.

In Chicago the temperature rose steadily after the sun came out climbing from 4 below to 10 above but the weatherman said it might go as low as 15 below zero with the new cold wave's arrival.

Texas braced for a freezing thrust which was expected to produce as low as 2 above in the north panhandle and Oklahoma prepared for the coldest weather of the year.

Sharp winds and forecasts of "decidedly cold" presaged a continuation of the sub zero weather in Canada. The dominion's cold wave died from a severe winter storm which invaded the eastern provinces. But Canadian national trains, which had been tied up by snowdrifts packed solid in the cuts between Montreal and Halifax were moving again.

California had its weather men plant too. Around San Diego in the southern section of the state, little immediate prospect was cited for the end of the worst drought there since the winter of 1933-34.

Daisy A. Root Takes Stand In Her Own Defense

Testifies She Slew Husband After He "Reached For His Gun"

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 25.—(P)—Crying freely and with her voice choked by sobs, Daisy Alexander Root told a murder trial jury today she slew her husband, Brenton Root, after he reached for his gun.

When she had concluded her story, she underwent a cross-examination in which the prosecution sought to bare her private life before and after her marriage several years ago.

The trial was recessed at noon until Monday after she admitted under vigorous questioning of District Attorney General W. T. Melain that she had been intimate with her husband before their marriage.

Melain tried to force her to say she had an affair with a Birmingham, Ala. man whom she described as Robert Lacey in 1928, but she testified that Lacey was a "real estate agent for the Alexander property," and that she had only discussed business with him.

The 29-year-old defendant, slim, dark-haired and attractive, said her husband was in bed with his back to her when she walked into his country home during the early hours of Nov. 3 after a gay night club party which broke up when she had words with Lucile Underwood, red-haired "cigarette girl," and quarreled with her husband about his attentions to her.

Itasca, Texas, Jan. 25.—(P)—Three men were killed today in a sputtering airplane that fell in a dense fog on a farm six miles southeast of here.

"I didn't think anything about it," he said, "but a few minutes later Barney Evans, a farmer, came running up and said a plane had crashed in my pasture."

The accident happened while Joseph Yuchs, 23, also of Quincy, Ill., was injured today when a combination truck and trailer loaded with ten tons of fish rolled down an embankment and turned over in a pond.

Demers who was asleep in the cab at the time was taken to the Day-Kimball hospital suffering from bruises and contusions.

TEMPORARY AAA PROGRAM HITS ANOTHER WALL

Drastic Revisions Of Measure Being Predicted

By D. Harold Oliver Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Jan. 25.—(P)—Fresh attempts to construct a temporary AAA replacement program with subsidies for "economic" use of land today struck another wall of bi-partisan opposition that forecast further drastic revisions.

The Jones-Bankhead bill as modified by the agriculture department expanded rather than curtailed questioned powers sought for the secretary of agriculture under the original draft.

It was debated at a stormy closed session of the Senate agriculture committee, and so loud was the cry of "unconstitutional" from the lips of both Democrats and Republicans that Chairman Smith (D-S.C.) deferred action until Secretary Wallace could appear Monday.

He will be asked for legal advice as to whether the redraft would stand up under the Supreme Court's AAA decision.

Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.), co-sponsor of the legislation, appeared to be virtually alone among committee members in contending it was constitutional and feasible.

As made public by Smith, the new bill was far from the completely revamped measure that had been predicted.

The policy declaration was broadened to include as one of the aims of a continuous and stable supply of agricultural commodities adequate to meet domestic and foreign consumer requirements "at prices fair to both producers and consumers."

This change alone was described as increasing the constitutional doubts by Senator Murphy (D-Ia.), a member of the all-Democratic subcommittee that reported the new measure to the full committee today.

Another evidence of attempted crop production control was seen by some in a revised section giving the secretary of agriculture "virtually unlimited authority to subsidize farmers after taking into consideration the productivity of the acreage affected by the farming practices adopted during the year with respect to which such payment is made."

By William J. Conway, Associated Press Staff Writer, Copyright, 1936, by The Associated Press.

Oregon, Ill., Jan. 25.—(P)—A proposal looking toward a permanent farm program within the framework of the constitution was advanced today by one of the nation's ranking agricultural authorities—Frank O. Lowden.

The elder statesman of the Republican party—insisting "The time has come to take the question out of politics"—voiced his views in an exclusive interview with the Associated Press on the eve of his 75th birthday tomorrow. His advice on the subject has been widely sought. But he consistently withheld any statement until the AAA litigation was settled.

Under his plan, the federal government would make grants to the states. The states, in turn, would pay bounties to farmers for removing 25 or 30 per cent of their acreage from production. The retired land would be planted to some legume and thus saved from the effects of overcropping and erosion which is steadily undermining America's basic industry, the undertaking would be administered by the staffs of the state agricultural colleges.

Lowden asserted it would bridge the current problem, establish an enduring system, meet constitutional tests, reduce burdensome surpluses, curtail waste and destruction of soil, safeguard the American living standard, insure the future welfare of urban and rural residents alike and assure coming generations adequate food at reasonable prices.

In its soil conservation aspects, the program corresponded generally to the bill recently rejected by the Senate agriculture committee. But Lowden's plan differs in administrative provisions. Under the Washington plan, the old AAA personnel would have been the administrators. Under the Lowden proposal, the federal government would see that the money it allotted was properly expended but actual administration would be vested in state agricultural college staffs.

He envisioned this state-federal cooperation as the factor which would delay the "unconstitutional" suspicions aroused in some quarters by the Washington measure.

Lowden—former governor of Illinois, twice a member of Congress, lawyer and dirt farmer since the day of the hand plow—bared his suggestion on long study and experience.

The idea lodged in his mind shortly after the World War. He was riding over his 4,500 acre Illinois farm, the yellow glare of erosion in the black soil caught his eye. He outlined the fundamentals of the project in an address at Madison, Wis., in 1930. Today he brought forth the complete outline of his scheme.

He will be asked for legal advice as to whether the redraft would stand up under the Supreme Court's AAA decision.

Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.), co-sponsor of the legislation, appeared to be virtually alone among committee members in contending it was constitutional and feasible.

But I can call upon innumerable witnesses to testify to the fact that during my whole public life I put patriotism above partisanship. And when I see danger I say danger x x x.

Now, what are these dangers I see? The first is the arraignment of class against class.

It has been freely predicted that if we were ever to have civil strife again in this country, it would come from the appeal to passion and prejudice that comes from the demagogue that would divide and class of our people against the other.

The next danger that is apparent to me is the vast building up of new bureaus of government, draining resources of our people in a common pool and redistributing them, not by any process of law, but by the whim of a bureaucratic autocracy.

Now, what would I have my party do? I would have them re-establish and re-declare the principles that they put forth in the 1932 platform.

Even our Republican friends x x x have all agreed that it is the most compact, the most direct, and the most intelligent political platform that was ever put forth x x x.

And listen, no candidate in the history of the country ever preached himself more unequivocally to his party platform than did the president x x x.

Millions and millions of Democrats just like myself x x x still believe in that platform. And what we want to know is why it wasn't carried out.

How can you balance a budget if you insist upon spending more money than you take in?

We have borrowed so that we have reached a new high peak of federal indebtedness for all time.

Forget the right; they can't pay this debt, x x x There is no use talking about the poor x x x this debt is going to be paid by that great middle class that we refer to as the backbone and the rank and file x x x it will come to them in the cost of living x x x.

According to the papers the other day some brilliant individual has conceived the idea of how to get around the constitution. We are going to have 48 AAAs, one for every state.

The NRA just put a gas bag on the anti-trust laws and put them fast asleep and nobody said anything about it.

x x x A short time ago x x x somebody said that business was going to get a breathing spell. What is the meaning of that? x x x I'll tell you where it comes from: It comes from the prize ring. When the aggressor is punching the head off the other fellow he suddenly takes compassion on him and he gives him a breathing spell before he delivers the knockout wallop.

Italians and Ethiopians in Fierce Battle

Selassie's Army In Fight Numbers Over 40,000 Men

By Edward J. Neil
Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press.

Asmara, Eritrea, Jan. 25.—(P)—An Ethiopian force estimated to number 40,000 was repelled by Italian troops Thursday in what eye witnesses said was the fiercest fighting on the northern front since the war began.

The Ethiopians repeatedly charged a blackshirt division, but were thrown back each time until the Italians, strengthened by reinforcements, forced the Ethiopians to retire from the battle field.

Military observers expressed the opinion that the warriors of Ras Kassa and Ras Seyoum, in their wild assault on the Fascist soldiers, were attempting to offset the reported victories by Gen. Rudolfo Graziani on the southern front.

The Ethiopians, constantly strengthened by fresh troops from the rear, charged recklessly into a barrage of Fascist machine-gun fire, paying little heed to casualties despite the terrific losses they suffered.

The Italians, likewise, fought valiantly in defending their position.

The encounter occurred about 15 miles west of Makale, the important northern Ethiopian town, reached by the Italians at the conclusion of their second major offensive in the early days of the war.

His next words were drowned out by cheering and laughter from the crowd which jammed the ballroom of the Mayflower hotel. It was in the same room, and before a President similarly resplendent, that Roosevelt recently pledged to the Jackson Day dinner that "we will not retreat."

Time and again Smith reverted to the Chicago platform of 1932 which he helped draft. Except for stock exchange control and repeal of the 18th amendment, he said, it has been "thrown in the wastebasket."

He went on:

"Even our Republican friends, and I know of many of them; they talk to me freely—we have our little confidences—they have all agreed that it is the most compact, the most direct, and the most intelligent political platform that was ever put forth."

Among those who heard the appeal on its behalf were John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee preceding Smith; and two former Democratic governors, Ely of Massachusetts and Ritchie of Maryland.

Ely said later he could not see "how any Democrat can disagree with him."

But an administration leader in the senate, Byrnes of South Carolina, expressed regret at home that Smith "can't forget his defeat at the Chicago convention."

At Chicago, Smith sought to prevent the Roosevelt nomination. There has been speculation ever since he called the Roosevelt election policy one of "boloney dollars" whether he would again seek the presidential nomination.

"I am not a candidate for any nomination by any party at any time," he said tonight, "and what is more I do not intend to lift my right hand to secure any nomination."

One Democratic senator, who declined to be quoted, said Smith had not closed the doors to a nomination. He said it was significant that Smith, in declaring he was not a candidate, had added that he would not lift a hand, and that this indicated he would accept a nomination.

To the Democrats in congress Smith appealed that election day be forgotten, "do the right, not the expedient thing."

Between spasms of applause, he recommended that the legislators "stop compromising."

Fishermen Found On An Ice Field

Moscow, Jan. 26.—(P)—An ice field on which 1,825 fishermen have been marooned for ten days was located today 150 miles out in the Caspian sea.

An airplane flew over the ice island and dropped medical supplies. The pilot reported the field had stopped drifting. The men were marooned when the ice broke away from shore Jan. 16.

The castaways confirmed his statement by a message from their small portable wireless set and reported the fishing was so good at the place they were taking advantage of it to increase their hauls.

Steamers left immediately to transport the men, who have 1,400 horses with them, to shore.

Airplane are searching in vain for other floe castaways, estimated to number 41.

Farm Income

Washington, Jan. 25.—(P)—Cash income of farmers from the sale of farm products in 1935 was estimated by the Department of Agriculture today at $6,932,000,000, compared with $6,387,000,000 in 1934.

Income last December was figured at $598,000,000, compared to $660,000,000 the previous month and $473,000,000 in December, 1934.

AAA benefit payments in December were $47,000,000, compared to $56,000,000 in November and $53,000,000 in December, 1934.

North States Brace Against New Cold Wave

Subzero Assault Is Expected This Afternoon

Chicago, Jan. 25.—(P)—Along the Canadian border, the elements mobilized tonight for a new subzero assault on the northern states.

A brief respite from the most frigid blasts of the century vouchsafed midwestern and Atlantic states during the day, was due to be snapped off during the night with temperatures from 10 to 20 degrees below from Minnesota to Indiana and subzero weather as far east as Ohio.

Additional deaths continued to augment the cold wave's list of victims throughout the day bringing the total for the country to at least 164 for the seventy-two hour period of extreme cold.

Snow was falling in Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado and more was forecast for New York state where highway traffic struggled for the fourth successive day against fast forming drifts in the upstate region. It was only a few degrees above zero there.

Ice jams in the Niagara river shriveled the majestic American Falls to a mere trickle and the biggest "ice bridge" in years covered the stream below the cataract.

Ninety four degrees separated today's coldest and warmest weather maps spots. Charles City, Ia., had minus 26 for the country's official minimum while Miami, Fla., boasted of a salubrious 68.

In Chicago the temperature rose steadily after the sun came out climbing from 4 below to 10 above but the weatherman said it might go as low as 15 below zero with the new cold wave's arrival.

As Texas braced for a freezing thrust which was expected to produce as low as 2 above in the north panhandle and Oklahoma prepared for the coldest weather of the year.

Sharp winds and forecasts of "decidedly cold" presaged a continuation of the sub zero weather in Canada. The dominion counted its dead from a severe winter storm which invaded the eastern provinces. But Canadian national trains, which had been tied up by snowdrifts packed solid in the cuts between Montreal and Halifax, were moving again.

California had its weather complaint, too. Around San Diego in the southern section of the state, little immediate prospect was cited for the end of the worst drought there since the winter of 1903-04.

Daisy A. Root Takes Stand In Her Own Defense

Testifies She Slew Husband After He "Reached For His Gun"

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 25.—(P)—Crying freely and with her voice choked by sobs, Daisy Alexander Root told a murder trial jury today she slew her husband, Brenton Root, after "he reached for his gun."

When she had concluded her story, she underwent a cross-examination in which the prosecution sought to bare her private life before and after her marriage several years ago.

The trial was recessed at noon until Monday after she admitted under vigorous questioning of District Attorney General W. T. McLean that she had been intimate with her husband before their marriage.

McLean tried to force her to say she had an affair with a Birmingham, Ala. man whom she described as Robert Lacey in 1928, but she testified that Lacey was a "real estate agent for the Alexander property" and that she had only discussed business with him.

The 29-year-old defendant, slim, dark-haired and attractive, said her husband was in bed with his back to her when she walked into his country home during the early hours of Nov. 3 after a gay night club party which broke up when she had walked with Lucile Underwood, red-haired "cigarette girl," and quarreled with her husband about his attentions to her.

Frank O. Lowden Advances Permanent Farm Program Within The Constitution

Dies in Taxicab

By William J. Conway,
Associated Press Staff Writer.
(Copyright, 1936, by the Associated Press.)

Oregon, Ill., Jan. 25.—(P)—A proposal looking toward a permanent farm program within the framework of the constitution was advanced today by one of the nation's ranking agricultural authorities—Frank O. Lowden.

The elder statesman of the Republican party—insisting "the time has come to take the question out of politics"—voiced his views in an exclusive interview with the Associated Press on the eve of his 75th birthday tomorrow. His advice on the subject has been widely sought. But he consistently withheld any statement until the A.A.A. litigation was settled.

Under his plan, the federal government would make grants to the states. The states, in turn, would pay bounties to farmers for removing 25 or 30 per cent of their acreage from production. The retired land would be planted to some legume and thus saved from the effects of overcropping and erosion which is steadily undermining America's basic industry, the undertaking would be administered by the staffs of the state agricultural colleges.

Lowden asserted it would bridge the current problem, establish an enduring system, meet constitutional tests, reduce burdensome surpluses, curtail waste and destruction of soil, safeguard the American living standard, insure the future welfare of urban and rural residents alike and assure coming generations adequate food at reasonable prices.

In its soil conservation aspects, the program corresponded generally to the bill recently rejected by the Senate agricultural committee. But Lowden's plan differs in administrative provisions. Under the Washington provisions, under the Washington provisions,

The Ghost of Huey Long

Apparently the ghost of Huey Long is rising up in the south to haunt the New Deal administration. Rev. Gerald Smith, former Long organizer, has announced a probable coalition between the forces of the late Louisiana Kingfish and Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia, avowed New Deal foe. A "grass roots" of anti-Roosevelt forces is planned at Macon, Ga., in the near future.

This threat to split the "solid south" against the nomination of Roosevelt may be more than idle. The Long machine recently won a smashing victory in Louisiana, which is hailed as an anti-New Deal demonstration. Powerful forces are also at work in Texas, Georgia and other southern states. The Long victory is said to have cost Roosevelt the Louisiana delegation in the forthcoming Democratic national convention.

The discontent in the south has its roots deeper than the personal feelings of its leaders. The cotton-control law has not worked well for all concerned. Foreign cotton markets are almost nil. Tenant farmers have been given the solid end of the stick.

Furthermore, the south is somewhat conservative. The threat to the Constitution in the New Deal has roused the fears of many, and the movement now forming is centering around an effort to save the Constitution. Even though the original Long platform was radical even beyond the present New Deal, the followers of the Louisiana Senator will not split hairs when it comes to lining up against the group he condemned. They will not question the views of those who join them, as the proposed coalition with Talmadge, a conservative, well proves.

Soil a Century Ago

President Roosevelt states that the aim of the new farm legislation is to make the soil of the United States as productive as it was a hundred years ago. At that time vast areas of virgin land existed in the middle west and over the Great Plains region. Entire states had not even been settled. There was new land for all who wanted it, and the amount of food produced on the land then under cultivation was ample for the population.

To return millions of acres of virgin fertility by the passing of a law is a dream in this day of worn-out land, eroded soil and lack of new areas to be put under cultivation. It may be possible to do this by the soil that the present fertility may be maintained and even increased, but it will require a vast program of soil conservation to bring back the acres that have been worn out.

Excess Gold Is Puzzle

Danger of flight of foreign funds from this country in case conditions improve abroad may be the determining factor in the decision on what to do with the huge excess reserves now piled up in federal reserve member banks.

This foreign gold, which sought safety in our dollar and profit in our stock market during 1935, may decide to pack up and leave at any moment, and many bankers believe this would be a serious threat to the country's financial welfare.

Some think the government should "lock up" part of the reserve, to be in position to balance a gold export movement. Others point out that such exodus of capital would provide the first opportunity for safe use of the devaluation profit.

In some quarters it is feared a reduction in present excess reserves might put us on the financial spot, with credit too tight in case of loss of foreign funds operating against our diminished reserves.

Meanwhile, the battle over the government's course in regard to the reserve holdings goes merrily on, with indications that the important decision may be expected soon.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

Dutcher Tells What Senate Munitions Probe Has Revealed

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington.—The story placed upon the records by the Senate Munitions Committee since the Morgan partners appeared before it has been blurred and obscured—partly by its complexity and the difficulty of reporting it from day to day, partly by the interjection of side issues, and finally by the furore created through the attempt to kill off the committee by denying it further funds.

To summarize the case and clarify the situation, here are the high spots of the investigation disclosures, based mostly on documents held secret until now:

Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan, asserting that "money is the worst form of contraband," embargoed loans and credits to belligerents at the outset of the war.

Morgan & Co., which admitted to the committee its complete sympathy for the Allies, undertook to arrange credits for Germany's foe.

Robert Lansing, as acting secretary of state, conferred with President Wilson the night of Oct. 23, 1914, and was told that Wilson differentiated between loans and credits, but that these views must be conveyed as Lansing's not his.

The bankers got this word and Morgan and National City Bank promptly arranged a $10,000,000 credit for France.

The Morgans deny they brought pressure, but this was the "camel's nose" with which America began to provide the financial as well as material sinews for the Allies.

Morgan Saves Order
In 1916 the House of Morgan dissuaded England from canceling $55,000,000 in contracts for American rifles, upon Morgan's warning that cancellation would cut off further American financing for the Allies.

Morgan, who handled three billion dollars of Allied war orders for 800 industrial concerns, admitted war orders swung the popular mind to unneutral trends.

Morgan stopped supporting the pounds sterling Aug. 15, 1915.

Treasury Secretary McAdoo, after

conferring with Morgan Partner H. P. Davison as to resultant dangers to American war trade, urged on Wilson the argument of Davison that those dangers could be averted only by large American war loans.

Wilson, again reversing neutrality policy, replied that he wouldn't interfere with such a loan, but that this must be conveyed orally and not put in writing. Arrangements for the first big $500,000,000 Anglo-French loan began promptly.

Morgan partners heatedly denied that they had unpegged the pound as a lever on government policy and senators failed to prove they did, though everyone admitted the ensuing exchange panic had caused Wilson to shift ground.

Clark Hits Sub Argument
Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri sought to explode the Morgan insistence that unrestricted German submarine warfare, solely, forced the United States into war, by showing that America's statesmen could have dissuaded Germany if they hadn't fumbled and feared to interfere with the war boom over here.

Germany insisted that Wilson make the Allies stop arming merchantmen. Wilson and Lansing, plagued by continued Allied defiance of their protests against violations of international law, agreed it would be unfair to expect Germany to order her submarines to rise to the surface for "search and seizure" if that were going to mean that the subs would be sunk at once by armed merchant ships.

Wilson and Lansing evolved a plan by which the Allies would disarm merchantmen and Germany would stop torpedoing merchant ships without warning. Meanwhile, Chairman Stone of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was favoring the George McManis resolution to forbid American citizens traveling on armed belligerent ship. Wilson undertook to dissuade him, in a public letter.

Lansing Feared Criticism

Lansing persuaded Wilson that their plan to solve the submarine problem should be shown to the Allies, but not to the Central Powers, because, Lansing explained, he was sure Germany would agree, whereas refusal by the Allies, if it became known, would "arouse adverse criticism in the press of this country and excite resentment against the Entente powers, which seems to be growing from day to day."

Lord Grey's memoirs assert the Allies would have had to accede to any American demand, because they were so dependent on this country for supplies. But Colonel House urged the submarine plan be held in abeyance.

Ambassador Gerard at Berlin reported that Wilson's letter to Stone had convinced the Germans that a secret Anglo-American understanding existed and that "nothing can be arranged."

But the British and the French finally refused to accept the submarine-merchantman proposal and it was dropped.

Senators inferred, of course, that pro-Ally sentiments plus fear of interfering with the war trade boom dissuaded Wilson from forcing an agreement. Germany resumed use of her last desperate weapon—unrestricted submarine warfare—and severance of diplomatic relations was followed by war.

Nye Stirs Bitter Clash
Finally Senator Clark placed evidence in the record indicating that Wilson knew of the secret treaties by which the Allies had divided up victory spoils in advance, and then cited Wilson's post-war testimony to senators that he hadn't known of the treaties until the Paris peace conference.

Plan Reduction in Electric Rates for Jacksonville Feb. 1

Commission Orders Cut; Will Be 12 to 18 1/2 Per Cent Here, Manager Says

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission yesterday ordered a reduction ranging from 4 to 14 per cent in rate for electricity by the Illinois Power and Light Corporation in various municipalities it serves.

The reductions, effective February 1, are principally in the rate blocks of customers using a normal amount of electricity, although schedules of consumers using large amounts of current also are reduced.

Cities to receive cuts in the medium and large user field are Clinton, Decatur, Jacksonville, South Jacksonville, Westville, Spring Valley, Brooklyn, Granite City, Madison, Nameoki, National City, Venice, Caseyville, Collinsville, East Alton, Edwardsville, Roxanna, Wood River, Carlinville, Gillespie, Crainville, Hillsboro, Schram City, Litchfield, Centralia, Central City, Pinney Heights, Womac and Mt. Vernon.

The reduction in power and light rates in this city announced to take effect Feb. 1, will range from 12 to 18 1/2 per cent, John R. Hoffman, local Power & Light Corporation manager, stated on learning of the act of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The reduction in residence rates, he said, will average 12 per cent. Some reductions in commercial rates will run as high as 18 1/2 per cent. The reduction means a substantial saving to many of the largest consumers of electricity in the city. Some bills will be cut as much as $40 per month, Mr. Hoffman said.

The reduction is one of the most substantial ever made in rates, and it applies to practically all the cities in which the company operates.

The new residence rates will be as follows:

First 12 kw-hrs per month for 75c, minimum.

Next 43kw-hrs per month for 6.2c per kw-hr.

Next 145 kw-hrs per month for 2.6c per kw-hr.

Over 200 kw-hrs per month for 2.0c per kw-hr.

The new commercial rates will be as follows:

First 30 hours use of demand 6.2c per kw-hr.

Next 50 hours use of demand 5.1c per kw-hr.

Next 100 hours use of demand 2.6c per kw-hr.

Over 180 hours use of demand 1.6c per kw-hr.

NEW SERVICE ADDED FOR BUS TRAVELERS

Added improvements in both local and long distance service have been announced by the Jacksonville Bus Lines. Beginning January 26 the company will operate four round trips daily to Springfield, connecting with buses to Indianapolis, points east and north.

The Jacksonville Bus Lines is authorized agent for the United Air Lines and reservations can be made through the local office. A passenger from this city may plan trips in any direction over the airlines and be certain of securing accommodations.

CEILING ZERO

One of the greatest romances of the air, "CEILING ZERO" with James Cagney and Pat O'Brien in the stellar roles.

Based on the Broadway stage hit by Lieut. Commander Frank Wead, the play is crammed with thrills, laughter and love. It concerns the daredevil exploits of three war buddies who have joined the commercial flying forces, to carry mail and passengers in the face of death.

Not that they considered their work particularly hazardous, but these pilots frequently flirted with life and death against the orders of their superiors. For the first time in air pictures, the kee-wee, or ground man also gets an inning in the romance of the aviation field, and the extreme precautions to guard the safety of the planes by watching the weather maps and warning the flyers constantly by radio, is dramatized.

Outside of the romance of the subject itself, there are two triangular love affairs, one between Cagney, a pilot, June Travis, who has the feminine lead and plays the part of an air hostess, and another pilot, a part played by Henry Wadsworth, Cagney also has had an affair with a character played by Martha Tibbets, who later becomes the wife of O'Brien.

For once Cagney does not get his girl, deliberately sacrificing her to his rival and taking that rival's place in a flight in sleet and snow, which means certain death.

Others in the cast include Barton MacLane, Isabel Jewell, Craig Reynolds, Richard Purcell, Carlyle Moore, Jr., Addison Richards and Robert Light.

CHARLIE CHAN'S SECRET

The secrets that Warner Oland uncovers in his new Fox mystery thriller, "CHARLIE CHAN'S SECRET," today and Monday at the FOX MAJESTIC Theatre, are of the dangerous kind that mean peril and possible death to the man who reveals them.

It is the latest picture based on the famous character of Earl Derr Biggers. Oland appears with an all-star supporting cast that includes Rodia Lawrence, Charles Quigley, Henrietta Croman, Edward Trevor, Astrid Allwyn and the well-known English comedian, Herbert Mundin.

It is Chan's task to trace down the missing heir of the Colby millions in the new picture. Until the man is uncovered, no one knows to whom the Colby millions will go.

Tracing his man from a wrecked ship from which he is believed to have escaped to San Francisco, Chan is astonished and horrified when he is discovered mysteriously murdered at a spiritualist seance.

All of the members of the family are under suspicion, because all had motives for his murder. When they are brought together the wily Chan arranges to reenact the scene of the murder.

The Ghost of Huey Long

Apparently the ghost of Huey Long is rising up in the south to haunt the New Deal administration. Rev. Gerald Smith, former Long organizer, has announced a probable coalition between the forces of the late Louisiana Kingfish and Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia, avowed New Deal foe. A "grass roots," or anti-Roosevelt force is planned at Macon, Ga., in the near future.

This threat to split the "solid south" against the nomination of Roosevelt may be more than idle. The Long machine recently won a smashing victory in Louisiana, which is hailed as an anti-New Deal demonstration. Powerful forces are also at work in Texas, Georgia and other southern states. The Long victory is said to have cost Roosevelt the Louisiana delegation in the forthcoming Democratic national convention.

The discontent in the south has its roots deeper than the personal feelings of its leaders. The cotton-control law has not worked well for all concerned. Foreign cotton markets are almost nil. Tenant farmers have been given the soiled end of the stick. Furthermore, the south is somewhat conservative. The threat to the Constitution in the New Deal has roused the fears of many, and the movement now forming is centering around an effort to save the Constitution. Even though the original Long platform was radical even beyond the present New Deal, the followers of the Louisiana Senator will not split hairs when it comes to lining up against the group he condemned. They will not question the views of those who join them, as the proposed coalition with Talmadge, a conservative, well proves.

Soil a Century Ago

President Roosevelt states that the aim of the new farm legislation is to make the soil of the United States as productive as it was a hundred years ago. At that time vast areas of virgin land existed in the middle west and over the Great Plains region. Entire states had not even been settled. There was new land for all who wanted it, and the amount of food produced on the land then under cultivation was ample for the population.

To return millions of acres of virgin fertility by the passing of a law is a dream in this day of worn-out land, eroded soil and lack of new areas to be put under cultivation. It may be possible to so build up the soil that the present fertility may be maintained and even increased, but it will require a vast program of soil conservation to bring back the acres that have been worn out.

Excess Gold Is Puzzle

Danger of flight of foreign funds from this country in case conditions improve abroad may be the determining factor in the decision on what to do with the huge excess reserves now piled up in federal reserve member banks.

This foreign gold, which sought safety in our dollar and profit in our stock market during 1935, may decide to pack up and leave at any moment, and many bankers believe this would be a serious threat to the country's financial welfare.

Some think the government should "lock up" part of the reserve, to be in position to balance a gold export movement. Others point out that such exodus of capital would provide the first opportunity for safe use of the devaluation profit.

In some quarters it is feared a reduction in present excess reserves might put us on the financial spot, with credit too tight in case of loss of foreign funds operating against our diminished reserves.

Meanwhile, the battle over the government's course in regard to the reserve holdings goes merrily on, with indications that the important decision may be expected soon.

Behind The Scenes In Washington

Dutcher Tells What Senate Munitions Probe Has Revealed

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington.—The story placed upon the records by the Senate Munitions Committee since the Morgan partners appeared before it has been blurred and obscured—partly by its complexity and the difficulty of reporting it from day to day, partly by interjection of side issues, and finally by the furor created through the attempt to kill off the committee by denying it further funds.

To summarize the case and clarify the situation, here are the high spots of the investigation disclosures, based mostly on documents held secret until now.

Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan, asserting that "money is the worst form of contraband," embargoed loans and credits to belligerents at the outset of the war.

Morgan & Co., which admitted to the committee its complete sympathy for the Allies, undertook to arrange credits for Germany's foes.

Robert Lansing, as acting secretary of state, conferred with President Wilson the night of Oct. 23, 1914, and was told that Wilson differentiated between loans and credits, but that these views must be conveyed as Lansing's not his.

The bankers got this word and Morgan and National City Bank promptly arranged a $10,000,000 credit for France.

The Morgans deny they brought pressure, but this was the "camel's nose" with which America began to provide the financial as well as material sinews for the Allies.

Morgan Saves Order
In 1916 the House of Morgan disavowed England from canceling $35,000,000 in contracts for American rifles, upon Morgan's warning that cancellation would cut off further American financing for the Allies.

Morgan, who handled three billion dollars of Allied war orders for 900 industrial concerns, admitted war orders swung the popular mind to unneutral trends.

Morgan stopped supporting the pounds sterling Aug. 15, 1915. Treasury Secretary McAdoo, after conferring with Morgan Partner H. P. Davison as to resultant dangers to American war trade, urged on Wilson the argument of Davison that those dangers could be averted only by large American war loans.

Wilson, again reversing neutrality policy, replied that he wouldn't interfere with such a loan, but that this must be conveyed orally and not put in writing. Arrangements for the first big $500,000,000 Anglo-French loan began promptly.

Morgan partners heatedly denied that they had unpegged the pound as a lever on government policy and senators failed to prove they did, though everyone admitted the ensuing exchange panic had caused Wilson to shift ground.

Clark Hits Sub Argument

Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri sought to explode the Morgan insistence that unrestricted German submarine warfare, solely, forced the United States into war, by showing that America's statesmen could have dissuaded Germany if they hadn't funded and feared to interfere with the war boom over here.

Germany insisted that Wilson make the Allies stop arming merchantmen. Wilson and Lansing, piqued by continued Allied defiance of their protests against violations of international law, agreed it would be unfair to expect Germany to order her submarines to rise to the surface for "search and seizure" if that were going to mean that the subs would be sunk at once by armed merchant ships.

Wilson and Lansing evolved a plan by which the Allies would disarm merchantmen and Germany would stop torpedoing merchant ships without warning. Meanwhile, Chairman Stone of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was favoring the Gore-McLemore resolution to forbid American citizens traveling on armed beligerent ship. Wilson undertook to dissuade him, in a public letter.

The reduction in power and light rates in this city announced to take effect Feb. 1, will range from 12 to 18 1/2 per cent. John R. Hoffman, local Power & Light Corporation manager, stated on learning of the act of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The reduction in residence rates, he said, will average 12 per cent. Some reductions in commercial rates will run as high as 18 per cent. The reduction means a substantial saving to many of the largest consumers of electricity in the city. Some bills will be cut as much as $40 per month. Mr. Hoffman said.

Now you can have a spotlessly clean home—a clean cellar without ashes—and safe, clean automatic heating with no worries. That's what you can do if you own a Whiting Stoker. Let it fire your furnace—while it pays for itself.

All you need to do is fill the hopper of the Whiting with coal each day or so. Then set the upstairs thermostat for the degree of heat you wish. The Whiting does the rest—and at a lower cost than any other heating method.

Whiting owners have steady, even, healthful room temperatures, hour in and hour out, throughout the entire winter—and many of them state they save from $2 to $3 a ton. That's because you can use the lower-priced grades of coal, if you own a Whiting Stoker. There's less coal wasted, too.

The cost of oil or gas is far more than that of Whiting Automatic Heat—and if you have a hand-fired furnace you can now make it automatic and save money doing so.

Many thousands of Whiting Stokers are now in operation. You can arrange to install one on long, easy, time-payment terms—as long as 3 years if you wish. Then you can use the Whiting's remarkable savings to meet the payments—enjoying all the time its many automatic comforts. Don't order any more fuel of any kind until you learn more about the Whiting Stoker. Come in and see it—or phone us to call and explain its many conveniences and economies.

William T. Clarkson And Wife Celebrate Golden Anniversary

Former Scott and Morgan County Couple Honored in Los Angeles

An account of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Clarkson in Los Angeles, Calif., on Dec. 24 has been received here. Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson, who now reside at 1017 West 32nd street, Los Angeles, are former well known residents of Jacksonville and Winchester. They have numerous relatives in Scott and Morgan counties.

Details of the wedding anniversary celebration follow:

Monday evening, Dec. 23, 1935, at the close of the Bible school Christmas program (in which Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson participated in one of the tableaux), they were presented by Dr. J. Merle Applegate with a beautiful leather-bound anniversary booklet from the Figueroa boulevard Christian church. This book contained not only the ceremony for the golden wedding service, but there was a place for guests' signatures, etc.

Tuesday, Dec. 24, 1935, at 3 p.m., twenty members of the family and intimate friends partook of a delicious chicken dinner, cooked by the bride of fifty years ago, and served by her daughter and her friend, Margaret Biddle. Among the guests were Dr. and Mrs. J. Merle Applegate, pastor of the Figueroa boulevard Christian church, where the Clarksons labor for the Lord; three sisters and one brother of Mr. Clarkson and their respective mates; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Weisz of Pasadena (Mrs. Weisz being one of the witnesses at the wedding fifty years ago), and Mrs. J. Carl Neat of Winchester, Ill., who had just arrived in California that morning. She is also a long-time friend of the family and a sister of Mrs. Weisz.

After the dinner, a short program was given. First, the golden wedding service was conducted by Dr. Applegate and the marriage vows of fifty years ago were renewed. The pastor then sang "Memories" with original verses written for this occasion. Mrs. Lora Miller gave a reading, and Katie Weisz Clarkson gave a musical reading, "Counting Daisy Petals," accompanied by Margaret Biddle.

In the evening over a hundred friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson by coming to the home to congratulate the happy couple. Most of these were from the Figueroa church. Light refreshments were served and a general good time was enjoyed. Two groups of Christmas carolers serenaded the bride and groom. Various musical selections were rendered at intervals, among them being:

Christmas carols, led by Mrs. Applegate and sung by the group, Mary Deves, accompanist.

Piano selections—Mrs. Clara Williams (Figueroa church pianist).

Vocal solos—Hazel Shively, accompanied by Mrs. Idell Moye. (Miss Shively is Katie Weisz's teacher, and Mrs. Moye is president of the South-west College of Music).

Solo, "Love's Old Sweet Song"—Ruth Barnes.

Duet, "Smilin' Through"—Nellie Jane Epperson and Marie Jennings, accompanied by Mrs. Edna Jennings.

Quartet—Misses Epperson, Jennings, Barnes and Marie Jennings.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts, and a shower of nearly fifty lovely anniversary cards. A souvenir printed with their pictures in 1885 and 1935 of gold paper, with an appropriate poem, was presented to each one of the 129 guests who called at the Clarkson home that day. On the whole, the golden wedding celebration was a most enjoyable occasion, and one long to be remembered by all who were present.

William T. Clarkson And Wife Celebrate Golden Anniversary

Former Scott and Morgan County Couple Honored in Los Angeles

An account of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Clarkson in Los Angeles, Calif., on Dec. 24 has been received here. Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson, who now reside at 1047 West 52nd street, Los Angeles, are former well known residents of Jacksonville and Winchester. They have numerous relatives in Scott and Morgan counties.

Details of the wedding anniversary celebration follow:

Monday evening, Dec. 23, 1935, at the close of the Bible school Christmas program in which Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson participated in one of the tributes, they were presented by Dr. J. Merle Appelgate with a beautiful leather-bound anniversary booklet from the Figueroa boulevard Christian church. This book contained not only the ceremony for the golden wedding service, but there was a place for guests' signatures, etc.

Tuesday, Dec. 24, 1935, at 3 p.m., twenty members of the family and intimate friends partook of a delicious chicken dinner, cooked by the bride of fifty years ago, and served by her daughter and her friend, Margaret Biddle. Among the guests were Dr. and Mrs. J. Merle Appelgate, pastor of the Figueroa boulevard Christian church, where the Clarksons labor for the Lord; three sisters and one brother of Mr. Clarkson and their respective mates, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Weiss of Pasadena, Mrs. Weiss being one of the witnesses at the wedding fifty years ago; and Mrs. J. Carl Nest of Winchester, Ill., who had just arrived in California that morning. She is also a long-time friend of the family and a sister of Mrs. Weiss.

After the dinner, a short program was given. First, the golden wedding service was conducted by Dr. Appelgate and the marriage vows of fifty years ago were renewed. The pastor then sang "Memories" with original words written for this occasion. Mrs. Lora Miller gave a reading, and Katie Vee Clarkson gave a musical reading, "Counting Daisy Petals," accompanied by Margaret V. Biddle.

In the evening over a hundred friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson by coming to the home to congratulate the happy couple. Most of these were from the Figueroa church. Light refreshments were served and a general good time was enjoyed. Two groups of Christmas carols were rendered the bride and groom. Various musical selections were rendered at intervals among them being:

Christmas carols, led by Mrs. Appelgate and sung by the group Mary Dewees, accompanist.

Piano selections—Mrs. Clara Williams (Figueroa church pianist).

Vocal solos—Hazel Shively, accompanied by Mrs. Idell Moye. (Miss Shively is Katie Vee's teacher, and Mrs. Moye is president of the Southwest College of Music).

Solo, "Love's Old Sweet Song"—Ruth Barnes.

Duet, "Smilin' Through"—Nellie Jane Epperson and Marie Jennings, accompanied by Mrs. Edna Jennings.

Quartet—Misses Epperson, Jennings, Barnes, and Marie Jennings.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts, and a shower of nearly fifty lovely anniversary cards. A souvenir printed with their picture in 1885 and 1935 on gold paper, with an appropriate poem, was presented to each one of the 129 guests who called at the Clarkson home that day. On the whole, the golden wedding celebration was a most enjoyable occasion, and one long to be remembered by all who were present.

"I'D RATHER HAVE A BUICK BUT"

What do you mean, BUT!

WHAT keeps you from driving a Buick—not next year—but now—today?

Is it the money?

Time payments on a Buick are but two or three dollars a week more than on the lowest-priced cars—less than that, when you figure the "extras" a smaller car usually calls for.

Is it the upkeep?

Buick is a big comfortable car that gives small-car gas mileage, small-car mileage on oil. You'll keep a Buick at least a year longer than you'll keep a lesser car—and probably spend less on it for service and repair in the meantime!

Could it be habit?

Maybe you get used to buying in the low-priced field—you get the idea a big car costs too much to run—you resign yourself to small-car comfort, ability, performance—and plain human nature keeps you from inquiring further!

Maybe a Buick is a bit beyond your reach. But let's not admit it until we've got the actual figures!

We'll gamble our time against yours to show you just what a Buick will cost—to buy—to run—to keep in good condition. We're surprised many a small-car owner with our thrifty figures, thrilled them with a demonstration.

Let us show you our arithmetic—and what a Buick can do out on the road. It won't cost a penny—and it may make you a lot happier—with a Buick!

IT COSTS LESS NOW TO BUY ON TIME!

The new GMAC 6% TIME PAYMENT PLAN not only makes it easier to figure the cost of buying on time, but saves money that you can use to get a better car. Ashland, Jan. 25.—Clemens shot from the sidelines with only ten seconds to go to give Ashland high school a 16 to 15 decision over Illinois School for the Deaf in the championship battle of the 14th annual Ashland Invitational tournament here tonight.

Franklin captured the consolation title in the preliminary game with a thrilling one point victory over Converse of Springfield, 21 to 20.

Turned back in the championship game, The Tigers for the second straight year won the sportsmanship trophy. They brought it home from Ashland last year after a clean demonstration of their ability, and captured it again tonight with clean play throughout the three games they entered.

Both teams resorted to a defensive style of play in the final battle, using zone defense and a delayed attack until the final quarter, when both whipped up their offense in hopes of either turning the tide or clinching the issue.

The Tigers trailed from the outset, breaking out in front for the first time during the final quarter.

KNOIT SIGNS

St. Louis, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Jack Knott, a signed contract, calling for a "substantial increase" in salary, was released by the St. Louis Browns today.

The pitcher won 11 and lost eight with the team last year.

He was the fourth to sign up, pitcher Irv Paul Andrews, catcher Eddie Hemley and outfielder Ed Coleman having previously come into the fold.

Van Mungo Dodgers' Star Pitcher Joins Increasing Group of Holdout Threats

By Eddie Brizet
Associated Press Sports Writer
New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Van Lingle Mungo, Brooklyn pitching star, today joined an increasing group of big league hold-out threats.

The big right-hander sent his 1935 contract bouncing back from Brooklyn, S. C., with all the speed of a rubber check. With it came an ultimatum for more salary.

Already listed as a rebel is the celebrated Dizzy Dean of the Cardinals. Holding out with him is strictly routine. He is automatically seeded No. 1 in this competition.

Sam West has publicly announced the St. Louis Browns need not count on him for any outfielding unless there is considerable upward revision of the salary offer. Two others—Leon Pettit of Washington and Young Cullen of Cleveland—are also in the line.

Receipt of Mungo's unsigned papers ruined an otherwise perfect week for the Dodgers.

"We gave Mungo a nice raise," he seems to think he's entitled to more. We haven't marked him down as a hold-out yet, but neither have we decided to make him another offer."

Last year the Paganella planter was paid $10,000 for winning 15 and losing 16 games for the fifth place Brooklyn He ranked 14th among National League twirlers. A finger injury kept him out of the lineup for several weeks and spoiled his chance to hang up 20 victories.

The Dodgers are believed to have offered Mungo $11,000 for this season. Not a soul, himself included, knows exactly what Dizzy Dean wants. He was paid better than $17,500 last year and probably will come to terms with Branch Rickey for around $20,000 for 1936.

West has set his price and if the Browns do not meet it, he'll keep right on pumping gas at his Texas filling station.

No trouble is anticipated with either Pettit or Cullen. They say their demands are not exorbitant. They just want more dough.

Pitcher Emil (Dutch) Leonard and Frank Skaff, third sacker and former Villanova star, signed with Brooklyn today, making a total of ten Dodgers now within the fold. Skaff was with Allentown and Peoria last year.

Secretary Jim Tierney dug into his desk and came up with three contracts to bring his total to ten and pull the Giants abreast of the flabbers.

In today's batch were Burgess Whitehead, second baseman obtained from the Cardinals; Charlie Englund, second baseman, from Galveston, and "Smoky Joe" Martin, a third sacker from Nashville. Mark Koenig now is the only infielder unsigned.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 25.—(AP)—My Ubl, whose football career at the University of Minnesota was blighted by a near-fatal injury, disclosed today he's going to marry the "reason" he's alive.

The "reason" is Carolyn Olson, a blonde, blue-eyed United Airlines stewardess on the Chicago-Cheyenne hop, who, in the fall of 1932, was a senior nursing student in Minneapolis.

Early in the 1932 football season, Ubl suffered a crushed chest in scrimmage. Pneumonia set in.

Surgeon who finally carved several ribs from Ubl's right side, along the back, drained his lungs said.

"His youth and good nursing, that's all that can save him." Apparently they didn't have much confidence in either, for one night a doctor filled out his death certificate.

"But we fooled them," said Ubl. "Carolyn took care of me like no one's ever been nursed before. I finally started gaining and it wasn't long until I discovered just what Carolyn meant to me."

When Ubl got well he wanted to play football again, but Minnesota Coach Bernie Bierman said the "risk was too great."

So Ubl came to Drake, rigged up an aluminum cast for his chest and earned the reputation of the best passer and kicker the Missouri Valley Conference has known in years.

Carolyn came to Des Moines too and nursed here until she became an airline stewardess.

Laffoon, Thomson Tie For Honors

By Russell J. Newland

San Francisco, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Ky Laffoon, sharp shooting linkman from Chicago, and Jimmy Thomson, one of the longest hitters in the business, tied for medal honors today in the San Francisco match play open championship.

The 36-hole qualifying round saw many of golf's notables fall by the wayside.

Only eight qualified for the championship flight in one of the most radical changes from the standardized field of 32 ever put into effect.

The qualifiers and their scores: Ky Laffoon, Chicago, 69-71—140; Jimmy Thomson, Ridgewood, N. J., 70-70—140.

Horton Smith, Chicago, 71-70—141; Craig Wood, New York, 71-71—142; Benny Coltrin, San Francisco, 69-72—141.

Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles, 71-71—142; Willie Hunter, Los Angeles, 71-71—142; Willie Goggin, San Francisco, 72-70—142.

The field was trimmed sharply in order to run off the tournament in three days. Those who remained in the running were compelled to blast out sub-par scores from the Lake Merced course, a par 72 test.

UNUSUAL TEAM
Indianapolis, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The world's most unusual bowling team, composed of an Irishman, a Chinese, a Hawaiian and two Americans, will travel 9,000 miles to Indianapolis to participate in the annual American Bowling Congress March 10 to April 13.

It will come from Honolulu and will be the first to represent a territorial possession of the United States in the ten-pin spectacle, according to officials in charge of the event. The team recently established a new record for Honolulu by topping 3,160 maps in three games.

Dollar-A-Year Men Of Baseball Watch 1936 With Concern

Cripples View Approach of Season with a Certain Amount of Alarm

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer
New York.—(AP)—The Yankees haven't had any word yet from the two players to whom they mailed "conditional" contracts a few days ago, Fred (Dixie) Walker and Frank Crosetti, and if those two reflect a while upon what happened to last year's "dollar a year men," they may hesitate quite a while before they sign the papers.

Meanwhile, a number of other slightly damaged stars are hoping the rest of the clubs don't fall in line with the Yankee idea of not discussing salaries until they're sure the players will be able to perform their allotted roles during the season.

A year ago, Eddie Collins, Babe Combs, Johnny Allen and Russell Van Atta, all afflicted by injuries either during the preceding season or during the winter, received those contracts that were supposed to hold only until they proved they were in shape. They were all successful in winning regular contracts, but Walker is the only one who will be back this spring trying for a regular place on the New York team.

While Walker is demonstrating the strength of his arm this spring, Crosetti will be attempting to show that the damaged knee which put him out of action in the 1935 season has responded to treatment. According to reports from the west coast an operation made the joint as good as new.

If the dollar-a-year idea should spread, such players as Lloyd Waner of the Pirates and Bill Denevec of the Cardinals, both of whom are recovering from pneumonia, might well be concerned about their futures. A long rest has been prescribed for Denevec, who isn't expected to return to action until June while Waner probably will be out even longer.

Babe Phelps, slated to be Brooklyn's first string catcher this year, had a broken hand last year while Frankie Pytkak of Cleveland was kept idle the season by illness. Lyle Judy, speedy Cardinal rookie, and Hank Erickson of Cincinnati were badly hurt in automobile accidents; Wally Moses of the Athletics broke an arm in mid season.

All of these and three of the Indians, Earl Averill and Clint Brown, the firecracker victims, and Bruce Campbell might be in line for conditional contracts if the idea were universally adopted.

George Welborn, agile Chevrolet center, continued his assault on the hoop during the past week in the Y.M.C.A. basketball league to increase his lead to 19 points over his nearest rival. Welborn's total of 59 points in five games gives him a substantial lead over Francis Hudson, Smith Industries center, who in five games has climbed to second place through consistent scoring. Wainwright, the runner-up last week failed to score this week but his total was sufficient to hold third place.

There will be no games Tuesday night because of the Waverly-Jacksonville high school game, but the league will continue as scheduled on Thursday, January 30.

Rockets Fail to Tally From Field as Quincy High Bids Good Bye to Three Seniors

Quincy, Jan. 25.—Quincy high kept Routt high from scoring from the field here tonight to win a listless basketball game 30 to 3. The game was a farewell party for three Quincy high players, who become ineligible in another week.

Routt had a few shots at the basket, but they were unable to get the ball to go through the hoop. Quincy rimmed the Routt hoop with a tight defense, and didn't give the Rockets who attempted long shots much opportunity to get set for a long shot.

Routt scored only two points in the first three periods as it became one of the few teams to fail to register a single field goal during the course of a game. Quincy rang up nine goals from the field and 12 from the free throw line.

The whole traveling Routt squad broke into the line-up, Fritschler leading the scoring with two points. Turner, one of the three graduating players, tossed in nine points to lead his team. Evans, another of the graduating players, made six free tosses, and Dang, a reserve, failed to score.

Quincy led 7 to 1 at the end of the first quarter and 15 to 2 at the end of the first half. They were in front

24 to 2 at the end of the third quarter. The box score:

Ashland Noses Out I.S.D. In Last 10 Seconds; Routt Drops One

Clemens Shot From Side and Deep in Court Gives Panthers Title; Franklin Wins Third

Ashland, Jan. 25.—Clemens shot from the sidelines with only ten seconds to go gave Ashland high's Panthers a 16 to 15 decision over Illinois School for the Deaf in the championship battle of the 14th annual Ashland Invitational tournament here tonight, after the deaf lads had gone into the lead for the first time in the last quarter.

Franklin captured the consolation title in the preliminary game with a thrilling one point victory over Converse of Springfield, 21 to 20.

Turned back in the championship game. The Tigers for the second straight year won the sportsmanship trophy. They brought it home from Ashland last year after a clean demonstration of their ability, and captured it again tonight with clean play throughout the three games they entered.

Both teams resorted to a defensive style of play in the final battle, using zone defenses and a delayed attack until the final quarter, when both whipped up their offenses in hopes of either turning the tide or clinching the game.

The Tigers trailed from the outset, breaking out in front for the first time during the final quarter spurt.

KNOTT SIGNS
St. Louis, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Jack Knott signed contract, calling for a "substantial increase" in salary, was received by the St. Louis Browns today.

The pitcher won 11 and lost eight with the team last year.

He was the fourth to sign up, pitcher Irv Paul Andrews, Catcher Rollie Hemley and Outfielder Ed Coleman having previously come into the fold.

Van Mungo Dodgers' Star Pitcher Joins Increasing Group of Holdout Threats

By Eddie Brietz
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Van Lingle Mungo, Brooklyn pitching star, today joined an increasing group of big league hold-out threats.

The big right-hander sent his 1935 contract bouncing back from the Dodgers, S. C. with all the speed of a rubber check. With it came an ultimatum for more salary.

Already listed as a rebel is the celebrated Dizzy Dean of the Cardinals. Holding out with him is strictly routine. He is automatically seeded No. 1 in this competition.

Sam West has publicly announced the St. Louis Browns need not count on him for any outfielding unless there is considerable upward revision of the salary offer. Two others—Leon Pettit of Washington and Young Clyde Castelman of the Giants, both pitchers—have admitted they are, at least, dissatisfied.

Receipt of Mungo's unsigned papers ruined an otherwise perfect week for the Dodgers.

"We gave Mungo a nice raise," one Brooklyn official said, "but he seems to think he's entitled to more. We haven't marked him down as a hold-out yet, but neither have we decided to make him another offer."

Last year the Brooklyn planter was paid $10,000 for winning 16 and losing 16 games for the fifth place Brooklyn. He ranked 14th among National League twirlers. A finger injury kept Mungo off the hill for several weeks and spoiled his chance to hang up 20 victories.

The Dodgers are believed to have offered Mungo $11,000 for this season. Not a soul, himself included, knows exactly what Dizzy Dean wants. He was paid better than $17,500 last year and probably will come to terms with Branch Rickey for around $20,000 for 1936.

West has set his price and if the Browns do not meet it, he'll keep right on pumping gas at his Texas filling station.

No trouble is anticipated with either Pettit or Castelman. They say their demands are not exorbitant. They just want more dough.

Pitcher Emil (Dutch) Leonard and Frank Skaff, third sacker and former Villanova star, signed with Brooklyn today, making a total of ten Dodgers now within the fold. Skaff was with Allentown and Peoria last year.

Secretary Jim Tierney dug into his desk and came up with three contracts to bring his total to ten and pull the Giants abreast of the lat-bushers.

In today's batch were Burgess Whitehead, second baseman obtained from the Cardinals; Charlie English, second baseman, from Galveston; and "Smoky Joe" Martin, a third sacker from Nashville. Mark Koenig now is the only infielder unsigned.

Steve O'Neill To Watch His Boys

Cleveland, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Steve O'Neill's first full year as a major league manager will develop a tangle between many of the Indians and Tigers he guided into the American League from his minor league posts at Toronto and Toledo.

Thirteen of the players O'Neill sent from Toronto and Toledo into the big circuit have landed in Detroit and Cleveland.

"It helps to know the good points and weaknesses the boys develop in the minors," said O'Neill today.

"Late last season Trosky was in a slump and I found he'd changed his stance. I got him back into the old stance he had in Toledo and he came out of the trouble all right."

"It isn't often that a manager has a chance of working with many of the players he's had in the minors."

"I've had Trosky under my eye since he came to Toledo as an outfielder. While he and I were there I changed him into a first baseman."

"While I was in Toronto sending players over to Detroit, I had Hayworth, Gerald Walker, Rogell, John Stone, and Vic Sorrell, Johnny Allen, who came to us in the Pearson deal, was there, and I had Richardson of the Yanks too."

"When I was coach and later manager at Toledo, I had a lot of future Indians—Hale, Trosky, Knickerbocker, Galatzer, Winegarner, Pytlak and Garbark."

With this extra punch to the rivalry between Cleveland and Detroit, the Indians' manager says he believed Cleveland will have "better luck against the Tigers this season."

Six More Cubs Sign Contracts

Chicago, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Six more signed contracts, including those of Pitcher Tex Carleton and Outfielder Tuck Stainback, today brought the number of satisfied Chicago Cubs up to an even dozen.

Four recruits joined the veterans, Carleton and Stainback, in forwarding their papers. The newcomers were Charles Wesley Flowers, southpaw pitcher who won 16 and lost eight with Helena of the East Dixie League last year, and a pair of righthanders, Gene Ford and Kenneth Weafer, Ford was with Peoria of the Three Eye League, while Weafer served with Birmingham of the Southern Association.

Johnny Gill, who finished with the Cubs last season after leading the American Association in the more important offensive branches while with Minneapolis, signed for his first full season. Two non-combatants, Coach Roy Johnson and Trainer Andrew Hemingway Lotshaw, also signed.

Greenberg, Frisch Receive Awards

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—A couple of local products, Frank Frisch, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Hank Greenberg, skyscraper first baseman of the Detroit Tigers, have been selected by the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers Association as the game's outstanding figures in 1935.

Greenberg, who already has been designated as the American League's most valuable player last season, will receive a plaque emblematic of selection as the player of the year at the chapter's annual dinner and frolic here Feb. 2.

Frisch has been singled out for the award of merit for services to baseball over a long period of years.

My Ubl Plans To Marry His Nurse

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 25.—(AP)—My Ubl, whose football career at the University of Minnesota was blighted by a near-fatal injury, disclosed today he's going to marry the "reason" he's alive.

The "reason" is Carolyn Olson, a blonde, blue-eyed United Airlines stewardess on the Chicago-Cheyenne hop who, in the fall of 1932, was a senior nursing student in Minneapolis.

Early in the 1932 football season, Ubl suffered a crushed chest in scrimmage. Pneumonia set in.

Surgeons who finally carved several ribs from Ubl's right side along the back, drained his lungs, said:

"His youth and good nursing, that's all that can save him." Apparently they didn't have much confidence in either, for one night a doctor filled out his death certificate.

"But we fooled them," said Ubl. "Carolyn took care of me like no one's ever been nursed before. I finally started gaining and it wasn't long until I discovered just what Carolyn meant to me."

When Ubl got well he wanted to play football again, but Minnesota Coach Bernie Bierman said the "risk was too great."

So Ubl came to Drake, rigged up an aluminum cast for his chest and earned the reputation of the best passer and kicker the Missouri Valley Conference has known in years.

Carolyn came to Des Moines too and nursed here until she became an airline stewardess.

Laffoon, Thomson Tie For Honors

By Russell J. Newland
Associated Press Sports Writer

San Francisco, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Ky Laffoon, sharp shooting linksman from Chicago, and Jimmy Thomson, one of the longest hitters in the business, tied for medal honors today in the San Francisco match play open championship.

The 36-hole qualifying round saw many of golf's notables fall by the wayside.

Only eight qualified for the championship flight in one of the most radical changes from the standardized field of 32 ever put into effect.

The qualifiers and their scores: Ky Laffoon, Chicago, 69-71-140.

Jimmy Thomson, Ridgewood, N. J., 70-70-140.

Horton Smith, Chicago, 71-70-141.

Craig Wood, New York, 71-71-142.

Benny Coltrin, San Francisco, 69-72-141.

Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles, 71-71-142.

Willie Hunter, Los Angeles, 71-71-142.

Willie Goggin, San Francisco, 72-70-142.

The field was trimmed sharply in order to run off the tournament in three days. Those who remained in the running were compelled to blast out sub-par scores from the Lake Merced course, a par 72 test.

UNUSUAL TEAM
Indianapolis, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The world's most unusual bowling team, composed of an Irishman, a Chinese, a Hawaiian and two Americans, will travel 9,000 miles to Indianapolis to participate in the annual American Bowling Congress March 10 to April 13.

It will come from Honolulu and will be the first to represent a territorial possession of the United States in the ten-pin spectacle, according to officials in charge of the event. The team recently established a new record for Honolulu by topping 3,190 maples in three games.

Dollar-A-Year Men Of Baseball Watch 1936 With Concern

Cripples View Approach of Season with a Certain Amount of Alarm

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York.—(AP)—The Yankees haven't had any word yet from the two players to whom they mailed "conditional" contracts a few days ago, Fred (Dixie) Walker and Frank Crosetti, and if those two reflect a while upon what happened to last year's "dollar a year men," they may hesitate quite a while before they sign the papers.

Meanwhile a number of other slightly damaged stars are hoping the rest of the clubs don't fall in line with the Yankee idea of not discussing salaries until they're sure the players will be able to perform their allotted roles during the season.

A year ago Walker, Earle Combs, Johnny Allen and Russell Van Atta, all afflicted by injuries either during the preceding season or during the winter, received those contracts that were supposed to hold only until they proved they were in shape. They were all successful in winning regular contracts, but Walker is the only one who will be back this spring trying for a regular place on the New York team.

While Walker is demonstrating the strength of his arm this spring, Crosetti will be attempting to show that the damaged knee which put him out of action in the 1935 season has responded to treatment. According to reports from the west coast an operation made the joint as good as new.

If the dollar-a-year idea should spread, such players as Lloyd Waner of the Pirates and Bill Delancey of the Cardinals, both of whom are recovering from pneumonia, might well be concerned about their futures. A long rest has been prescribed for Delancey, who isn't expected to return to action until June while Waner probably will be out even longer.

Babe Phelps, slated to be Brooklyn's first string catcher this year, had a broken hand last year while Frankie Pytlak of Cleveland was kept idle the season by illness. Lyle Judy, speedy Cardinal rookie, and Hank Erickson of Cincinnati were badly hurt in automobile accidents; Wally Moses of the Athletics broke an arm in mid season.

All of these and three of the Indians, Earl Averil and Clint Brown, the firecracker victims, and Bruce Campbell might be in line for conditional contracts if the idea were universally adopted.

Rockets Fail to Tally From Field as Quincy High Bids Good Bye to Three Seniors

Quincy, Jan. 25.—Quincy high kept Routt high from scoring from the field here tonight, to win a listless basketball game 30 to 5. The game was a farewell party for three Quincy high players, who become ineligible in another week.

Routt had a few shots at the basket, but they were unable to get the ball to go through the hoop. Quincy ringed the Routt hoop with a tight defense, and didn't give the Rockets who attempted long shots much opportunity to get set for a long shot.

Routt scored only two points in the first three periods as it became one of the few teams to fail to register a single field goal during the course of a game. Quincy rang up nine goals from the field and 12 from the free throw line.

The whole traveling Routt squad broke into the line-up, Frischer leading the scoring with two points. Turner, one of the three graduating players, tossed in nine points to lead his team. Evans, another of the graduating players, made six free tosses, and Dang, a reserve, failed to score.

Quincy led 7 to 1 at the end of the first quarter and 15 to 2 at the end of the first half. They were in front.

Welbourn Takes Lead In Y. League

George Welbourn, agile Chevrolet center, continued his assault on the hoop during the past week in the Y.M.C.A. basketball league to increase his lead to 19 points over his nearest rival. Welbourn's total of 59 points in the five games gives him a substantial lead over Francis Hudson, Smith Index center, who in four games has climbed to second place through consistent scoring. Wainwright, the runner-up last week failed to score this week but his total was sufficient to hold third place.

There will be no games Tuesday night because of the Waverly-Jacksonville high school game, but the league will continue as scheduled on Thursday, January 30.

Fan Breezes

By
Ernest Savage

Regardless of how he came out last night, Coach S. Robby Burns declared before he took his team over to the Ashland tournament for the championship game that he was very much pleased with the manner in which it was conducted.

Ashland fans put on a drive to win back the sportsmanship trophy the Tigers brought home with them from last year's tournament, and their efforts were decidedly effective.

Burns tells us that Ashland has written to Chicago's I. H. S. A. A. office in an effort to be re-assigned to the Jacksonville regional tournament. Virginia is reported to be tickled over their being assigned to the local regional.

Albyn Ketner, hot-shot of the Jacksonville high Crimsons of a couple seasons ago, will return to the eligibility list again this week.

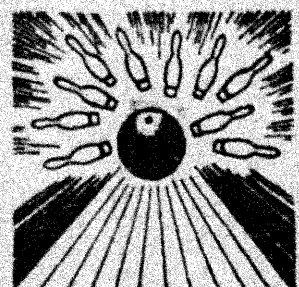

Ketner appeared to have an easy job ahead in making the varsity string, taking over Lynn Ferguson's place. Now it looks as if there is going to be a scrap for the job. Elmer Luke, who attracted a lot of attention during the Beardstown tournament and has been playing good ball ever since, Walker needs Bobby Hamlin's left hand shooting to make his Crimsons go at the speed they have been able to maintain thus far. Ketner's work is cut out for him.

It points out the extreme danger of neglecting even a minor case of piles, shows how cancer and other incurable conditions frequently result. The mild Thornton & Minor treatment, by which more than 46,000 men and women have been restored to health during the past 37 years, and which requires no hospitalization or the use of dangerous anaesthetics, is fully explained. Past Records Mean Nothing in Picking Olympic Athletes

All Members of Team to Be Chosen in Tryouts to Prevent Trouble

New York.—(P)—Past records, even if they're world marks, won't mean a thing in the eyes of the American Olympic committee, when the nation's track and field stars compete next summer for places on the team that will go to Berlin.

Before sailing last night for Germany and the winter Olympics, Avery Brundage, chairman of the committee, frowned upon suggestion that such outstanding stars as Glenn Cunningham, Bill Bonthron, Jesse Owens, Ben Eastman, Jack Torrance and Keith Brown be awarded places on the team on the basis of their past performances. That proposal already has been discarded by the committee in the interests of absolute fairness, Brundage revealed.

"There's some argument in favor of such procedure," he said, "but it would only lead to more trouble. Where could we draw the line if we attempted to be arbitrary about the selection? We would be charged with favoritism. In the first place, if some of the stars we picked in advance failed to come through in the Olympics we would never hear the last of it."

"The only fair thing we can do is conduct the tryouts as formerly, with the Olympic selections based on actual performances in the final tests." Brundage predicted that the committee would be able to finance full American participation in the summer games. Since it was definitely decided to support the Olympics, there has been a good response to appeals for financial support, in some cases from "sources not anticipated," and the committee is going ahead with plans to have the United States represented by the maximum of three athletes in each track and field event as well as in all the other major events.

White Hall Spurts To Beat Winchester

White Hall, Jan. 25.—Running into a slow break for the first time this year, White Hall's high scoring aggregation was put to a severe test tonight but put on a furious burst in the last quarter after Winchester's Wildcats had pulled up within a single point of them to win a 21 to 13 decision.

Controlling the ball three fourths of the time the Wildcats crept up in the third quarter when their delaying tactics wrought up the White Hall team to a point where they left openings through which Winchester went for short shots. They crawled up to a 14-13 score at one stage of the final period before White Hall began clipping the hoop.

Before and After U. S. Started to Save Farm Soil

Remarkable success of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in battling erosion and saving farm lands of the southwest ravaged by dust storms is strikingly shown in these contrast pictures. The upper scene shows a portion of the D. M. Knight farm in the Dallas county, Tex., demonstration area on Nov. 12, 1934. The soil to the right had been blown out to a depth of six to eight inches and the hummocks on the left were a foot to two feet high. The hummocks were leveled, and the soil planted as an "anchor" crop a few days will be planted this year and within two years government experts say the land will be normally productive again.

Kelly Scoffs About Reports That State Ticket Hits F.D.R.

No Connection Between New Deal and State Party Fight, He Says

Chicago.—(P)—Mayor Edward J. Kelly, field marshal of the regular Illinois Democrats' attack on Gov. Henry Horner, scoffed today at the idea the falling out would endanger President Roosevelt's chances.

The six foot Irish mayor, blowed up to unseat the Democratic governor, termed this campaign "a purely local issue."

The governor has supported "New Deal" policies and the president, but the Democratic regulars can and will repudiate Gov. Horner without repudiating President Roosevelt, said Kelly.

"There is absolutely no connection between the New Deal and the campaign for governor," the mayor asserted. "The state organization is 100 per cent behind President Roosevelt."

Long smoldering hard feelings between the governor and the Chicago mayor, who rolled up a world's record majority vote last spring, came to the point of open warfare on Jan. 12 when the Chicago organization "dumped" Gov. Horner and put up a rival candidate, Dr. Herman Neils Bundesen.

The mayor declared the candidacy of Dr. Bundesen, widely known president of the Chicago Board of Health, would in fact "assist in carrying Illinois for President Roosevelt," as well as "strengthening the state ticket."

He took a fling at Gov. Horner by adding: "Gov. Horner's lack of popularity is an entirely different matter."

RESCUE CREWS TAKE FOOD TO COMMUNITY

Cut Through Heavy Drifts to Bring Relief

Sherrard, W. Va.—(P)—Rescue crews cut through mountainous drifts today with welcome fuel, food, and medicine for 300 snowbound residents of this mountain village.

The crews worked throughout the night behind three snow plows pushing through four miles of blocked highway.

Two truck-loads of coal came only a few feet behind the workmen. Loads of food followed.

The village had been isolated since Sunday.

As the workers rested today, reports came of another isolated community. Telephone company linemen said drifts from ten to fifteen feet deep have completely cut off a settlement of about ten families of windswept Fork Ridge. No information could be obtained from the community. All phone lines were down.

Sentence Woman and Man to Chair for Eggnog Poison Death

Husband of Slain Woman Smiles as Verdict of Guilty is Announced

Minneapolis, N. Y.—(P)—A jury of 12 men voted death in the electric chair today for Mrs. Mary Frances Creighton and Everett C. Applegate for the poison eggnog slaying of Applegate's stout wife, Ada.

The verdict of guilty came after three hours and 40 minutes of deliberation.

Applegate, 36, who admitted adulteries with Mrs. Creighton's 15-year-old daughter, Ruth, but denied any part in the death of his wife, smiled when he heard the verdict.

Mrs. Creighton, 32, who testified she put poison into an eggnog for Mrs. Applegate, sat with bowed head, pale but calm.

The state contended Applegate's 288-pound wife was poisoned after she discovered her husband's relations with Mrs. Creighton and her daughter in the "quadrangle" house shared by the two families.

Judge Cortland A. Johnson set Jan. 30 as the date to pronounce the mandatory death sentence.

By convicting the two defendants, the jury decided Applegate and Mrs. Creighton acted jointly to kill the former's wife.

Preliminary Fighter Features in Garden

Makes Determined Effort to Come Back After Taking Severe Punishment

New York.—(P)—Regardless of how far Frankie Connolly of Boston may go as a prize fighter, New York fans will remember him for one of the greatest exhibitions ever seen in the Madison Square Garden ring.

He lost a six round decision to George Brescia of South America last night in a bout that was billed as preliminary to a ten rounder between Andre Langlet of France and Hans Birke of Germany but as far as the sparse gathering of fans was concerned Connolly's was the main bout.

Langlet, weighing 208 pounds, made his American bow by clearly outpointing Birke, 189, in a slow encounter. Birke hits like a goiter teeing off and before he reached the back of his swing, Langlet managed to get in a couple good hits for himself.

Connolly, who weighed 235½, found a sharp puncher in the South American who ripped a looping left hand blow to the Bostonian's ear early in the first round. A minute later a right hand punch opened a long cut over Connolly's eye and he went to his corner at the end of three minutes of fighting his head and torso a red smear. A physician, however, said Connolly might continue.

Fans who expected to see a quick ending to that bout in the second round, however, were treated by a lumbering Irishman who walked to his corner pumping both hands, driving Brescia before him around the ring.

Connolly started to bleed again at half-bellied, was started to the first up at the count of three he was straight in again, crowding his opponent and scoring with boom rights to the body and still jobs the head.

In the third round Connolly hit Brescia on the verge of a knock as he repeatedly staggered him with blows to the head. Connolly, thick as eye with a sudden blow, was like a hard to see, however, and hitting low on occasion, taking rounds in the scoring because of foul blows. Both were tired battle for the rest of the fight, and the knockdown combined with the blows resulted in Brescia, who weighed 206½, receiving a sixth rounder.

Fan Breezes

By
Ernest Savage

Regardless of how he came out last night, Coach S. Robey Burns declared before he took his team over to the Ashland tournament for the championship game that he was very much pleased with the manner in which it was conducted.

Ashland fans put on a drive to win back the sportsmanship trophy the Tigers brought home with them from last year's tournament, and their efforts were decidedly effective.

Burns tells us that Ashland has written to Chicago's I. H. S. A. A. office in an effort to be re-assigned to the Jacksonville regional tournament. Virginia is reported to be tickled over their being assigned to the local regional.

Albyn Ketner, hot-shot of the Jacksonville high school, of a couple seasons ago, will return to the eligibility list again this week.

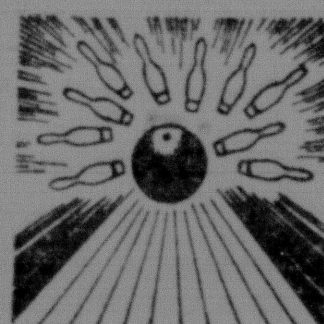

Ketner appeared to have an easy job ahead in making the varsity string, taking over Lynn Ferguson's place. Now, it looks as if there is going to be a scrap for the job. Elmer Lukeman attracted a lot of attention during the Beardstown tournament and has been playing good ball ever since. Walker needs Bobby Hamlin's left handed shooting to make his Crimsona as at the speed they have been able to maintain thus far. Ketner's work is cut out for him.

Past Records Mean Nothing in Picking Olympic Athletes

All Members of Team to Be Chosen in Tryouts to Prevent Trouble

New York—(AP)—Past records, even if they're world marks, won't mean a thing in the eyes of the American Olympic committee, when the nation's track and field stars compete next summer for places on the team that will go to Berlin.

Before sailing last night for Germany and the winter Olympics, Avery Brundage, chairman of the committee, frowned upon suggestion that such outstanding stars as Glenn Cunningham, Bill Bonthron, Jesse Owens, Ben Eastman, Jack Torrance and Keith Brown be awarded places on the team on the basis of their past performances. That proposal already has been discarded by the committee in the interests of absolute fairness, Brundage revealed.

"There's some argument in favor of such procedure," he said, "but it would only lead to more trouble. Where could we draw the line if we attempted to be arbitrary about the selections? We would be charged with favoritism, in the first place. If some of the stars we picked in advance failed to come through in the Olympics we would never hear the last of it."

"The only fair thing we can do is conduct the tryouts, as formerly, with the Olympic selections based on actual performances in the final tests."

Brundage predicted that the committee would be able to finance full American participation in the summer games. Since it was definitely decided to support the Olympics, there has been a good response to appeals for financial support, in some cases from "sources not anticipated," and the committee is going ahead with plans to have the United States represented by the maximum of three athletes in each track and field event as well as in all the other major events.

White Hall Spurs To Beat Winchester

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Running into a slow break for the first time this year, White Hall's high school aggregation was put to a severe test here tonight but put on a furious burst in the last quarter after Winchester's Wildcats had pulled up within a single point of them, to win a 21 to 13 decision.

Controlling the ball three fourths of the time, the Wildcats crept up in the final quarter when their delaying tactics wrought up the White Hall team to a point where they left openings through which Winchester went for short shots. They crawled up to a 14-12 score at one stage of the final period before White Hall began clipping the hoop.

Kelly Scoffs About Reports That State Ticket Hits F.D.R.

No Connection Between New Deal and State Party Fight, He Says

Chicago—(AP)—Mayor Edward J. Kelly, field marshal of the regular Illinois Democrats' attack on Gov. Henry Horner, scoffed today at the idea the falling out would endanger President Roosevelt's chances.

The six foot Irish mayor, avowedly out to unseat the Democratic governor, termed this campaign "a purely local issue."

The governor has supported "New Deal" policies and the president, but the Democratic regulars can and will repudiate Gov. Horner without repudiating President Roosevelt, said Kelly.

"There is absolutely no connection between the New Deal and the campaign for governor," the mayor asserted. "The state organization is 100 per cent behind President Roosevelt."

Long smoldering hard feelings between the governor and the Chicago mayor, who rolled up a world's record mayoralty vote last spring, came to the point of open warfare on Jan. 12 when the Chicago organization "dumped" Gov. Horner and put up a rival candidate, Dr. Herman Neils Bundesen.

The mayor declared the candidacy of Dr. Bundesen, widely known president of the Chicago Board of Health, would in fact "assist in carrying Illinois for President Roosevelt," as well as "strengthening the state ticket."

He took a fling at Gov. Horner by adding: "Gov. Horner's lack of popularity is an entirely different matter."

RESCUE CREWS TAKE FOOD TO COMMUNITY

Cut Through Heavy Drifts to Bring Relief

Sherrard, W. Va.—(AP)—Rescue crews cut through mountainous drifts today with welcome fuel, food and medicine for 300 snowbound residents of this mountain village.

The crews worked throughout the night behind three snow plows pushing through four miles of blocked highway.

Two truck-loads of coal came only a few feet behind the workmen. Loads of food followed.

The village had been isolated since Sunday.

As the workers rested today, reports came of another isolated community. Telephone company linemen said drifts from ten to fifteen feet deep have completely cut off a settlement of about ten families of wind-swept Fork Ridge. No information could be obtained from the community. All phone lines were down.

Before and After U. S. Started to Save Farm Soil

Remarkable success of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in battling erosion and saving farm lands of the southwest ravaged by dust storms is strikingly shown in these contrast pictures. The upper scene shows a portion of the D. M. Knight farm in the Dallas county, Tex., demonstration area on Nov. 12, 1934. The soil to the right had been blown out to a depth of six to eight inches and the hummocks on the left were a foot to two feet high. The hummocks were leveled, mules made planted as an "anchor" crop a row crop will be planted this year and within two years government experts say the land will be normally productive again.

Sentence Woman and Man to Chair for Egg-nog Poison Death

Husband of Slain Woman Smiles as Verdict of Guilty is Announced

Minneapolis, N. Y.—(AP)—A jury of 12 men voted death in the electric chair today for Mrs. Mary Frances Creighton and Everett C. Applegate for the poison egg-nog slaying of Applegate's stout wife, Ada.

The verdict of guilty came after three hours and 46 minutes of deliberation.

Applegate, 35, who admitted intimacies with Mrs. Creighton's 15-year-old daughter, Ruth, but denied any part in the death of his wife, smiled when he heard the verdict.

Mrs. Creighton, 32, who testified she put poison into an egg-nog for Mrs. Applegate, sat with bowed head, pale but calm.

The state contended Applegate's 268-pound wife was poisoned after she discovered her husband's relations with Mrs. Creighton and her daughter in the "quadrangle" house shared by the two families.

Judge Cortland A. Johnson set Jan. 30 as the date to pronounce the mandatory death sentence.

By convicting the two defendants, the jury decided Applegate and Mrs. Creighton acted jointly to kill the former's wife.

Judge Wham Passes On Federal Cases

Hands Down Sentences for Southern Illinois Area

East St. Louis, Ill.—(AP)—Thomas Parnley, 25, Mounds, Ill., faced today a 2-year sentence in Leavenworth penitentiary after pleading guilty before Federal Judge Fred L. Wham to theft of sugar from an interstate freight car shipment.

Judge Wham also sentenced Jesse J. Morris, 32, Fairfield, Ill., mail carrier, to 90 days in Franklin county jail and fined him $100 yesterday for using the mails to defraud.

Morris admitted that he used assumed names to buy merchandise from Chicago mail order houses and sent worthless checks as payment.

Those sentenced after leading guilty to violations of the internal revenue act.

James H. Edwards, 32, Harrisburg, Ill., 90 days in Williamson county jail; Lloyd D. Jones, 28, and Joseph Gayauski, Jr., 28, of Thompsonville, Ill., 18 months in Chillicothe Reformatory; Joseph Gayauski, Sr., 32, Thompsonville, 90 days in Franklin county jail; Cecil Simpson, 42, Brookport, Ill., a year and a day, Chillicothe Reformatory.

QUESTIONS WHETHER BULL HAS REPUTATION

Kansas City—(AP)—Mrs. Amy Johnson sued a dairy firm for $10,000 damages for the death of her husband, allegedly killed by a bull of "vicious reputation."

"Whoever heard of a bull having a reputation?" countered defense attorneys.

"That," said Judge C. A. Miller, continuing the case, "is a question on which I would like to have some good authorities submitted."

Preliminary Fighter Features in Garden

Makes Determined Effort to Come Back After Taking Severe Punishment

New York—(AP)—Regardless of how far Frankie Connolly of Boston may go as a prize fighter, New York fans will remember him for one of the gamest exhibitions ever seen in the Madison Square Garden ring.

He lost a six round decision to George Brescia of South America last night in a bout that was billed as preliminary to a ten rounder between Andre Lenglet of France and Hans Ertle of Germany but as far as the sparse gathering of fans was concerned Connolly's was the main bout.

Lenglet, weighing 208 pounds, made his American bow by clearly out-pointing Ertle, 189, in a slow encounter. Ertle hits like a goiter teeing off and before he reached the back of his swing, Lenglet managed to get in a couple good licks for himself.

Connolly, who weighed 235 1/2, found a sharp puncher in the South American who ripped a looping left hand blow to the Bostonian's ear early in the first round. A minute later a right hand punch opened a long cut over Connolly's eye and he went to his corner at the end of three minutes of fighting, his head and torso a red smear. A physician, however, said Connolly might continue.

Fans who expected to see a quick ending to that bout in the second round, however, were fooled by the lumbering Irishman who walked from his corner pumping both hands, driving Brescia before him around the ring.

Connolly started to bleed again and halfblinded, was strafed to the floor. Up at the count of three he waded straight in again, crowding his opponent and scoring with booming rights to the body and stiff jabs to the head.

In the third round Connolly hit Brescia on the verge of a knock-out as he repeatedly staggered him with blows to the head. Connolly, flicking his eye with a sodden glove, was finding it hard to see, however, and was hitting low on occasions, losing two rounds in the scoring because of foul blows. Both were tired battles for the rest of the fight, and the knockdown combined with the blows resulted in Brescia, who received 206 1/2, receiving a split decision.

with the raising of the present structure in the second ward.

The board has yet to receive a favorable opinion on the bonds that will be issued against the district, although it has been assured that if the suggestions of the bond attorneys are carried out the plan will be favorable. The board also has to decide upon just how much of the building will be constructed, go over the contracts again with contractors and buy back enough bonds to raise the bonding power to $65,000.

C. N. Wright reported that the Elliott bank has bonds on hand, which it will sell back to the district at the present market value, entailing a loss of some interest money, in order to help build the new school units. Some of the bonds are not available at the present time, he added.

IERC's Petition For Funds To Be Sent To Horner

Sufficient Money To Carry On Relief Until May 1 Is Sought

Chicago, Jan. 25.—(P)—The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission's petition for funds to supplement until May 1 relief money now being derived from the state sales tax will be placed on the hands of Governor Horner and Illinois general assembly leaders Monday, Jan. 26, according to a statement by Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the commission, said today.

It will be the second petition taken before the legislature which early this month appropriated $2,500,000 from the state general revenue fund.

The bill of Senator Harold G. Ward (Dem., Chicago) to appropriate $7,500,000 from the same source for relief, may be recalled next week. It failed to get sufficient votes for passage when it was first introduced.

Rep. F. W. Lewis (Dem., Robinson) is author of a bill which would give for relief $1,000,000 additional a month instead of the $2,500,000 a month until May 1 contemplated in Ward's measure.

Both bills would abolish the relief commission. The bills would set up a system under which relief money would be apportioned to the counties by the governor and a group of other officials.

G. W. Wickersham Dies Suddenly In A Taxicab

Served As U. S. Attorney General During Taft Administration

New York, Jan. 25.—(P)—George W. Wickersham, one-time attorney-general of the United States and later chairman of the commission which recommended continuation of national prohibition, died suddenly today in a taxicab.

The cab driver who was taking the 76-year-old attorney on a short ride to a club luncheon with old friends discovered at his destination that his passenger was dead.

Henry W. Taft, a law partner of Mr. Wickersham, identified the body of his colleague at a police station. Mr. Wickersham was attorney-general in the cabinet of President Taft from 1909 to 1913.

At the intersection of Fifth avenue and 43d street, he spoke over his shoulder to ask Mr. Wickersham at what corner he wished to be let out. There was no answer.

Cunningham turned to see Wickersham lying across the seat, partly slumped on the floor.

Taft said Wickersham had been ill two years ago and was confined then for nearly ten months.

A heart attack was believed responsible for the sudden death.

His most recent activity in the legal field was as one of the guardians of 11-year-old Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt's property, during the litigation over the child's custody.

Special Counsel Walter Bellatti outlined the board's present financial standing, pointing out that there is now outstanding against the district bonds and obligations amounting to a little over $416,000. The district's indebtedness is limited to $467,538.85, leaving only a little over $50,000 for issuing bonds.

Plan Building Soon

Construction, PWA officials told the local committee, is supposed to be underway by Feb. 1, but in view of the large amount of detail work to be done before any construction begins, the committee told the board that it was doubtful that PWA would stick to its demands. IERC's Petition For Funds To Be Sent To Horner

Sufficient Money To Carry On Relief Until May 1 Is Sought

Chicago, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The Illinois Emergency relief commission's petition for funds to supplement until May 1 relief money now being derived from the state sales tax will be placed in the hands of Governor Horner and Illinois general assembly leaders Monday, Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the commission, said today.

It will be the second petition taken before the legislature which early this month appropriated $2,500,000 from the state general revenue fund.

The bill of Senator Harold G. Ward (Dem. Chicago) to appropriate $7,500,000 from the same source for relief, may be recalled next week. It failed to get sufficient votes for passage when it was first introduced.

Rep. F. W. Lewis (Dem. Robinson) is author of a bill which would give for relief $1,000,000 additional a month instead of the $250,000 a month until May 1 contemplated in Ward's measure.

Both bills would abolish the relief commission. The bills would set up a system under which relief money would be apportioned to the counties by the governor and a group of other officials.

Served As U. S. Attorney General During Taft Administration

New York, Jan. 25.—(AP)—George W. Wickersham, one-time attorney-general of the United States and later chairman of the commission which recommended continuation of national prohibition, died suddenly today in a taxicab.

The cab driver who was taking the 78-year-old attorney on a short ride to a club luncheon with old friends discovered at his destination that his passenger was dead.

A heart attack was believed responsible for the sudden death.

The STRANGE CASE of JULIA CRAIG

by Nard Jones

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JULIA CRAIG, pretty young widow, to George Woodford, lawyer, is ambitious to become a night club singer. Julia shares an apartment with ANN SANDERS.

PETER KEMP, young lawyer, to meet with Julia but the quarrel and Julia declares she never wants to see him again.

Woodford gives a party aboard his yacht and asks Julia to come to sing for his guests, including "LIVE" LARRY, a famous singer, and his wife, HUGO NASH, and ROYAL NESBITT.

On board the yacht, Julia discovers the others think she is Woodford's guest and also that the first is to be much longer than a week-end. The yacht lands at Evergreen Island where Woodford lives.

Julia leaves the others and sets out to explore the place. Suddenly she hears a man's voice.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER X

STARTLED at the tall figure before her on the path, Julia stepped back.

"Please don't run," the pleasant voice went on. "Stay and let me introduce myself—and apologize for frightening you. I'm Tom Payson."

"Oh . . .," breathed Julia, as if his name explained everything which it did not. "I thought there was no one on Evergreen Island except Mr. Woodford and his party."

"And you," laughed Payson, "are one of his party. I take it?"

Julia nodded. "I'm Julia Craig."

He came closer, studying her face in the semi-darkness. "The fact is, you know, I was just as scared as you were. I didn't know Woodford was at his lodge, and I'd been told that all ghosts wear white. But not so charmingly."

He took a match from his hip, and he re-lighted his pipe. In the sudden glare his features were handsome and clear-cut. He raised his eyes to her in the bright yellow light. "Cigarettes?"

"No, thanks . . . I'm still curious, though. Are you camping on the island as a friend of Mr. Woodford's?"

"No to both those guesses. I know Woodford only through hearsay—and my camp is on the next island over. I came across in a little rowboat hitched to an outboard motor. I think I've tramped over every square foot of my island—so I thought I'd see what this one was like."

He laughed. "I was just about to conclude it was just like mine. But now I've changed my mind. Why don't you let me take you back to Woodford's lodge? I don't like to trespass and then sneak away, you know."

"I wish you wouldn't come to the lodge," said Julia suddenly.

"Oh! . . . Do you mind telling me why?"

Confused at her own impulsive words, and at Payson's question, Julia sought her mind for an answer. "I'm not sure, but . . . She stopped, facing him, and began again. "I might as well tell you the truth if I want you to help me."

"You might as well," Payson agreed.

ran up stands and barriers along the route to be followed by King George's funeral procession.

Tall masts, which had been swathed in blue, gold, and silver for the silver jubilee celebrations of George's reign last summer re-appeared, this time draped in purple and black.

Some shop windows were converted into grandstands, with tiers of seats commanding upward of $50 apiece. Other windows were barricaded stoutly against the anticipated pressure of Tuesday's crowds.

It was understood King Edward's three brothers and the visiting kings would follow the coffin from Westminster hall to Paddington station, whence the body will be taken to Windsor instead of riding chargers as at the 1910 funeral for King Edward VII.

The clamor of the streets, in preparation for the event, contrasted sharply to the silence of Westminster hall, where thousands more filed past the coffin.

Officials announced that 110,042 persons passed the bar yesterday, the first day of the public procession after the late king was brought from Sandringham, where he died late Monday night.

Morgan Civil War Vet Passes Away In California

L. A. Barr Dies At Home Of Daughter; Body To Be Brought Here

L. A. Barr, 90, one of Morgan county's few surviving Civil War veterans, passed away Saturday in Los Angeles, Calif., according to word received here. Mr. Barr died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Minnie Decker, with whom he was spending the winter. His death occurred at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

He spent the summer months at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ellis Thompson, of the Arcadia community, leaving last fall for California. He had enjoyed fairly good health until recently when he became ill. It was his custom last summer to visit Jacksonville at least once a week, and daily he walked a few miles for exercise. He celebrated his ninety-third birthday last September at his daughter's home at Arcadia.

To Bring Body Here.

The remains will be brought to this county for interment. It is expected that Mrs. Decker will leave Monday for this city with the body. Upon arrival here the remains will be taken to the Gillham Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Luther Allard Barr, the son of Davidson Barr and Lina G. Allard, was born in Spencer, Worcester county, Mass., Sept. 19, 1845. The first trip Mr. Barr made to Illinois was in 1863 when the family was persecuted by a relative, Ellis Allard, pioneer Cass county resident, to come to Illinois. This trip was made by rail to LaSalle, then down the Illinois river on a steamer and by stage coach to Virginia.

Enlists In Army.

When very young, Mr. Barr became a bootmaker and worked at this trade until he enlisted in the army in 1861, with Company I, Second Massachusetts regiment heavy artillery. The company was first sent to Fort Monroe in Virginia and then Norfolk, Va., all the time serving on coast defense duty. They were then sent back to Portsmouth where Mr. Barr contracted smallpox and was sent to the posthouse, the disease leaving him totally blind in the left eye. About this time six-four of the company were sent to Andersonville prison. In the spring of '65, on the march to Kingston and Goldsboro, the company engaged in several small battles. After the rebels evacuated Kingston in North Carolina, they met Sherman's army coming up from Wilmington, making Johnson take the road for Raleigh to retreat. After the surrender the company was sent to Goldsboro to take charge of supplies and the equipment of the Confederate army.

At Fort Fisher, there was a very fine 500-pound cannon on the wharf which was supposed to have been sent by Queen Victoria, that Mr. Barr remembered. It was later mounted on a masonry base and sent to Annapolis, Md.

Mr. Barr made his second trip to Illinois by rail. He was employed in Chicago in a shoe factory, later hitchhiking to Kane county where he operated a dairy business for a time. He then made a trip to Kansas City by prairie schooner. He was employed by a railroad which was built very close to the Kaw (Kansas) river, and eventually fell in the river.

Had Offer of Trade.

While he was in Kansas City a man wanted to trade him a place of land, where the big Union station is now located, for a team of mules. From there he went to Quincy, and in 1866 came to Arcadia. Shortly after he became a member of the Matt Star post in Jacksonville, later transferring his membership to the Downing post, G. A. R., in Virginia.

On Nov. 28, 1880, he was married to Mary Henderson Petefish and they lived on a farm near Arcadia until September, 1909, when Mrs. Barr passed away. He then went to Virginia to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Minnie Decker, later moving to Jacksonville.

Since 1924 has spent the winter months in California and the summer months with his children in Illinois.

Mr. Barr leaves four children, Mrs. Emma Kennedy, Arcadia; Mrs. Minnie Decker, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Lena Thompson and Howard Barr of Arcadia. He also has five grand-children. Mrs. Jessie Shedy and Goldie Decker of Los Angeles; Luther Kennedy and Theodore Thompson of Arcadia; and three great-grandchildren, Grandson Winkle of Los Angeles and Mary Jo Thompson of Arcadia and Nancy Lee Thompson of Arcadia.

WATER MAIN LEAKS HOSE USED TO SUPPLY SCHOOL FOR DEAF

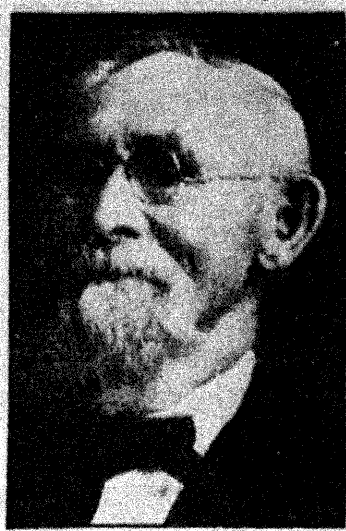

Because of a leak in a water main leading into the Illinois School for the Deaf, the school last night had 350 feet of hose from a Hydrant in College avenue, to furnish the institution with water while repairs are being made.

The break occurred in the main that leads from the boiler room to the lead-in main leading to the large pressure tank on Woodland Place. Water poured from the break in the pipe under the driveway on the north side of the main building.

In order to provide the institution with service while the main was shut off for repairs, firemen connected a line on the College avenue hydrant and extended it to a hydrant in the institution's grounds in front of the last Hall. This line will provide sufficient water to the institution until repairs are made, and workmen immediately shut off the water on the broken main and started repairs.

It is believed the main will be put back in service sometime today.

"Problems Of The Pacific" To Be Theme At College

Plans For MacMurray Institute Of Public Affairs Are Announced

That "Problems of the Pacific" is to be the subject of the 1936 MacMurray College Institute of Public Affairs was announced yesterday by President C. P. McClelland. The Institute will be held on Monday and Tuesday, February 24 and 25. As has been customary in former years there will be two evening sessions, one of which will be dinner meeting, and sessions both morning and afternoon on the second day.

Dr. McClelland was not ready to announce the complete program, but intimated that a high official of the Japanese Embassy in Washington will speak, and that he expects to secure a Chinese to present the case of that nation. Miss Alva Long, of St. Louis, who is the chairman of the Institute on International Relations of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, as organization representing two million women, will speak on "The Future of the Open Door in China." It is expected that the other speakers will be announced within a few days.

The college began its annual Institute years ago with a series of sessions devoted to discussion of topics in the field of foreign affairs, but beginning with the Institute of 1936 turned to the field of domestic affairs with the subject "The Current Crisis." In 1933 the topic was the domestic one, "The New Deal," and last year "Peace and War" was discussed as a problem affecting the United States.

The active policy of Japan in Manchuria and north China, the critical situation in Russo-Japanese affairs and the naval race begun by Japan's abrogation of the naval limitation agreement have all combined to bring the Pacific area to the forefront as a matter of public concern and interest and in recognition of this fact the college has returned this year to its original interest, international relations, in choosing the subject for discussion.

All sessions will, as usual, be open to the public.

Sub-Zero Weather Causes Ear Muffs To be in Fashion

Not so many years ago only the aged, the eccentric and a few college students could achieve the correct air of nonchalance required for the wearing of ear muffs. Today, not to wear the bits of clinging cloth or velvet, is to be both physically and socially uncomfortable.

For with the cold wave has come a wave of enthusiasm for ear warmers. Local merchants have sold out, reordered, and yesterday the ear bob market was reported as "demand heavy."

One local merchant received a partial shipment from a manufacturer this week with the following notation on the bottom of the order, "As far as we're concerned, these things are the same as $10 gold pieces."

With another cold wave reportedly on the way, ear muffs from the conventional black to the bright reds, blues, greens, pastels, and eye-catching plaids will undoubtedly take it upon themselves to relieve the weather's white monotony and, incidentally, to keep the ears of the city warm.

School Board Talks Finances After PWA Approval Is Received

Public Works Administration approval of contracts for constructing a new grade school unit in the second ward, announced yesterday by the Chicago offices of the PWA, followed by a meeting of the Board of Education at which steps were taken to raise the bonding power of the district to $65,000 in order to pay for the district's share of the cost of construction, brought nearer the realization of a project which voters of the city approved by a fourteen to one vote early last December, when they approved a bond issue up to $125,000.

Smidt and Gibson, of this city, have been approved by the PWA as contractors for the construction of the new building, their contract calling for the raising of the present Lafayette school building and the construction of a new one at a cost of $85,306. The plumbing and sewage contract was approved for the Carson-Payson company of Danville, at an estimated cost of $6,282, and the PWA also approved the D. P. Edwards Heating company for the heating, ventilating and air conditioning contract, with no price set because of possible changes in plans.

Approval of the contracts was given on an understanding between the PWA and the school board, that the board would arrange its finances in such a manner that it could bond itself for a total of $65,000 in the first unit, leaving $90,000 bonding power under the approval given the project by the voters, for the second unit, to be constructed in the third ward.

To Arrange Finances.

The board expects to be able to come up to its part of the agreement, and took steps at the meeting to arrange its finances by passing a resolution authorizing the president and secretary of the board to pay off a sufficient amount of the outstanding indebtedness to bring the bonding power up to $65,000.

In order to get the project moving along, the board also passed a resolution to sell $65,000 in bonds to the Illinois State Bank of this city, and the Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago. The bonds are to fall due at the rate of $7,000 in 1943, 45 and 46, $10,000 in each of the years 1947, 1948 and 1949, and the final $7,000 in 1950. The bonds are to bear three and one half per cent interest, for which the two banks have agreed to pay the board of education, plus a premium of $3,500 and to furnish the bonds and legal opinion.

With definite information that the PWA has approved the project, the board at its meeting still has to iron out several minor matters, such as making a final determination of what will go in the building, and other financial and legal matters of a minor nature.

No hope for a larger grant was offered by the PWA at a conference between President George B. Kendall, S. N. P. chairman of the building committee, and C. N. Wright, chairman of the finance committee, in Chicago Friday morning. Mr. Foley reported for the committee at the board meeting yesterday, but the PWA allowed the board's application for an increased grant, to take care of the increased cost of construction, on file.

PWA Alots Grant.

Belief that it would be possible to carry to completion the project in both wards, expressed as the board meeting, The Public Works Administration has allotted a total of more than $94,000 as a grant for the construction of the two units, one half of which will be applied on the second ward project. The grant was made on the basis of 45 per cent of the estimated cost of the building, but the board discovered when it opened bids that the price of labor had gone up over the estimated cost, and that the increase threatened disaster.

Assurance that the construction of only one unit would in no way influence the grant also was given the committee during its conference with PWA authorities.

The board will meet with the architect, Hubert Smith, of Champaign, who designed the Washington school after the second ward building will be modeled in the near future, to determine just how much of the building can be completed with the amount of money that will be available. The board felt confident yesterday that the building, which includes eight rooms, a gymnasium and an auditorium, could be completed with the possible exception of the auditorium, which might have to be finished in the rough for the time being.

Gives Report.

Chairman Foley, of the building committee, gave a detailed report of the special committee's conference with Mr. Black and a Mr. Axtell, in the Chicago PWA offices, and related that during the conference, the committee resubmitted the bids held pending further action by PWA. The total cost of the building is expected to be in the neighborhood of $103,000, he reported.

He then went on to show that the board will realize $65,000 from the sale of the bonds, and will receive a grant of about $47,000, which will provide funds sufficient to carry the building to completion. He pointed out, however, that the construction account must be set up before any work begins, and that there would be some delay before actual work could get underway, in view of the various matters to be settled.

Asked about the plan presented by Henry J. Rodgers, who suggested to the city council that it pay off the special assessment obligation, or part of it, amounting to $33,000, now outstanding against the school district, he stated that he had been told by the bond approving attorneys that such a step would be entirely legal as far as the finances of the school district were concerned. However, the bond attorneys stated that it would be necessary to have this assessment

Nation-wide interest in the annual convention of the Illinois Agricultural Association at Decatur, January 29-31, is expected to bring out the largest gathering of Illinois farmers in the history of the organization, according to reports received from many sections of the state at headquarters of the Association at Chicago. A crowd in excess of 5,000 is predicted.

Morgan Civil War Vet Passes Away

L. A. Barr Dies At Home Of Daughter; Body To Be Brought Here

L. A. Barr, 90, one of Morgan county's few surviving Civil War veterans, passed away Saturday in Los Angeles, Calif. according to word received here. Mr. Barr died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Minnie Decker, with whom he was spending the winter. His death occurred at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

He spent the summer months at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ellis Thompson, of the Arcadia community, leaving last fall for California. He had enjoyed fairly good health until recently when he became ill. It was his custom last summer to visit Jacksonville at least once a week, and daily he walked a few miles for exercise. He celebrated his ninety-third birthday last September at his daughter's home at Arcadia.

To Bring Body Here.

The remains will be brought to this county for interment. It is expected that Mrs. Decker will leave Monday for this city with the body and upon arrival here the remains will be taken to the Gillham Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Luther Allard Barr, the son of Davidson Barr and Liana G. Allard, was born in Spencer, Worcester county, Mass., Sept. 19, 1845. The first trip Mr. Barr made to Illinois was in 1853 when the family was persuaded by a relative, Ellis Allard, pioneer Cass county resident, to come to Virginia, Ill. The trip was made by rail to LaSalle, then down the Illinois river on a steamer and by stage coach to Virginia.

Enlist In Army.

When very young, Mr. Barr became a bootmaker and worked at this trade until he enlisted in the army in 1861, with Company I, Second Massachusetts regiment heavy artillery. The company was first sent to Fort Monroe in Virginia and then Norfolk, Va., all the time serving on coast defense duty. They were then sent back to Portsmouth where Mr. Barr contracted smallpox and was sent to the posthouse, the disease leaving him totally blind in the left eye. About this time sixty-four of the company were sent to Andersonville prison. In the spring of '65, on the march to Kingston and Goldsboro, the company engaged in several small battles. After the rebels evacuated Kingston in North Carolina, they met Sherman's army coming up from Wilmington, making Johnnie Lee, the road for Raleigh to retreat. After the surrender the company was sent to Goldsboro to take charge of supplies and the equipment of the Confederate army.

At Fort Fisher, there was a very fine 500-pound cannon on the wharf which was supposed to have been sent by Queen Victoria, that Mr. Barr especially remembered. It was later mounted on a mahogany base and sent to Annapolis, Md.

Mr. Barr made his second trip to Illinois by rail. He was employed in Chicago in a shoe factory, later hitchhiking to Kane county where he operated a dairy business for a time. He then made a trip to Kansas City by prairie schooner. He was employed by a railroad which was built very close to the Kaw (Kansas) river, and eventually fell in the river.

Had Offer of Trade.

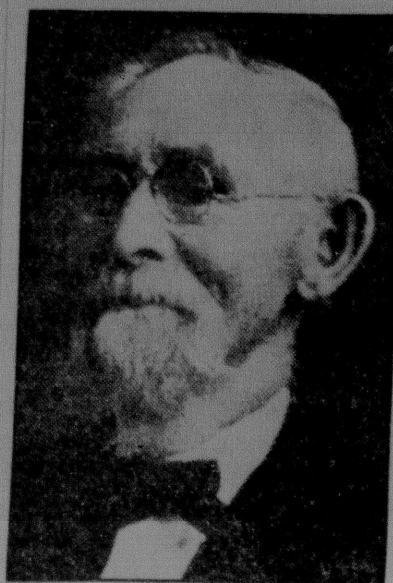

While he was in Kansas City a man wanted to trade him a piece of land, where the big Union station is now located, for a team of mules. From there he went to Quincy, Ill. in 1868, where he came to Arcadia. Shortly afterwards he became a member of the Matt Star post in Jacksonville, later transferring his membership to the Downing post, G. A. R., in Virginia.

On Nov. 25, 1869, he was married to Mary Henderson Petefish and they lived on a farm near Arcadia until September, 1909, when Mrs. Barr passed away. He then went to Virginia to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Minnie Decker, later moving to Jacksonville.

Since 1924 has spent the winter months in California and the summer months with his children in Illinois.

Mr. Barr leaves four children, Mrs. Emma Kennedy, Arcadia; Mrs. Minnie Decker, Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Lena Thompson and Edward Barr of Arcadia. He also has five grandchildren, Mrs. Jessie Sheedy and Goldie Decker of Los Angeles, Luther Kennedy and Theodore Thompson of Arcadia, and three great grandchildren, Evelyn Winkle of Los Angeles and Mary Jo Thompson of Arcadia and Nancy Lee Thompson of Arcadia.

"Problems Of The Pacific" To Be Theme At College

Plans For MacMurray Institute Of Public Affairs Are Announced

That "Problems of the Pacific" is to be the subject of the 1936 MacMurray College Institute of Public Affairs was announced yesterday by President C. P. McClelland. The Institute will be held on Monday and Tuesday, February 24 and 25. As has been customary in former years there will be two evening sessions, one of which will be dinner meeting, and sessions both morning and afternoon on the second day.

Dr. McClelland was not ready to announce the complete program, but intimated that a high official of the Japanese Embassy in Washington will speak, and that he expects to secure a Chinese to present the case of that nation. Miss Alves Long, of St. Louis, who is the chairman of the committee on International Relations of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, an organization representing two million women, will speak on "The Future of the Open Door in China." It is expected that the other speakers will be announced within a few days.

The college began its annual Institute years ago with a series of sessions devoted to discussion of topics in the field of foreign affairs, but beginning with the Institute of 1933 turned to the field of domestic affairs with the subject "The Current Crisis." In 1933 the topic was the domestic one, "The New Deal," and last year "Peace and War" was discussed as a problem affecting the United States.

The active policy of Japan in Manchuria and north China, the critical situation in Russo-Japanese affairs and the naval race begun by Japan's abrogation of the naval limitation agreement have all combined to bring the Pacific area to the forefront as a matter of public concern and interest and in recognition of this year to its original interest, international relations, in choosing the subject for discussion.

All sessions will, as usual, be open to the public.

Sub-Zero Weather Causes Ear Muffs To be in Fashion

Not so many years ago only the aged, the eccentric and a few college students could achieve the correct air of nonchalance required for the wearing of ear muffs. Today, not to wear the bits of clinging cloth or velvet, is to be both physically and socially uncomfortable.

For with the cold wave has come a wave of enthusiasm for ear warmers. Local merchants have sold out, reordered, and yesterday the ear bob "market" was reported as "demand heavy."

One local merchant received a partial shipment from a manufacturer this week with the following notation on the bottom of the order: "As far as we're concerned, these things are the same as $10 gold pieces."

With another cold wave reportedly on the way, ear muffs from the conventional black to the bright reds, blues, greens, pastels, and eye-popping plaids will undoubtedly take it upon themselves to relieve the weather's white monotony and, incidentally, to keep the ears of the city warm.

No hope for a larger grant was offered by the PWA at a conference between President George B. Kendall, S. N. Foley, chairman of the building committee, and C. N. Wright, chairman of the finance committee, in Chicago Friday morning. Mr. Foley reported for the committee at the board meeting yesterday, that PWA allowed the board's application for an increased grant, to take care of the increased cost of construction, on file.

PWA Allots Grant.

Belief that it would be possible to carry to completion the project in both wards was expressed as the board meeting. The Public Works Administration has allotted a total of more than $94,000 as a grant for the construction of the two units, one half of which will be applied on the second ward project. The grant was made on the basis of 45 per cent of the estimated cost of the building, but the board discovered when it opened bids that the price of labor had gone up over the estimated cost, and that the increase threatened disaster.

A crowd in excess of 5,000 is predicted.

A delegation of approximately twenty-five County Farm Bureau members and their friends will make the trip to Decatur to get first-hand details of the new farm program and to take part in the three-day meeting, said Farm Adviser W. P. Coolidge.
